Hanifur Rahmam, also national athletes, became second and third respectively.
Mirona, who was the runner-up in the 3000m run in the last national athletic champions for Bangladesh Jute Mills Corporation, took 36 minutes 55 seconds to win the first prize in the women's section while Ena Anderson of Denmark and Engel Taylor of USA became second and third respectively. Both Ena and Taylor are Bangladeshi residents.

The first winner in each section was awarded 1000 dollars each while the second and third winners were given 700 and 500 dollar respectively.

Ferrer, Nadal in Acapulco semis

AFP, Acapulco

Rafael Nadal's injury comeback gathered pace Thursday as the 11-time Grand Slam champion reached the semi-finals of the Mexican Open and inched closer to a possible title showdown with fellow Spaniard David Ferrer.Nadal, playing his third tournament in four weeks after a seven-month injury layoff, beat Argentina's Leonardo Mayer 6-1, 7-5 in the quarters and will now play Nicolas Almagro.

Ferrer, the top seed and three-time defending champion whose world number four ranking puts him one spot higher than Nadal, breezed past Italy's Paolo Lorenzi 6-3, 6-1 to book a semi-final clash with Fabio Fognini.

The tournament is one of three Latin American clay court events Nadal tabbed for his comeback from a left knee injury.

He opened with a runner-up finish at Vina del Mar -- his first tournament since a surprise second-round exit at Wimbledon in June -- and followed up by lifting the title in Sao Paulo two weeks ago.

And he has insisted this week that he is still planning to play the upcoming hard court Masters Series events at Indian Wells and Miami, although he continues to experience pain in his knee.

Nadal won the first set against Mayer with relative ease, but the Argentine stepped it up in the second, and had two break chances against Nadal in the third game that he was unable to convert.

Mayer was also steadier on his own serve in the second frame, with Nadal unable to gain a chance to break until the 10th game, when the former world number one made an impressive sliding backhand winner to give himself a match point against Mayer's serve.Mayer delivered a service winner and went on to hold for 5-5. But in the 12th game his inopportune double fault gave Nadal a double-match point. Mayer saved one with an overhead winner, but could not fend off the next.

"This was a very difficult match," Nadal said. "Leonardo was playing really well in the second set, he began to play more aggressive and his serve was working well."

Ferrer went down an early break against Lorenzi but bounced back quickly and broke the Italian five times en route to the victory in 72 minutes. He next faces another Italian in Fognini, a 7-5, 6-4 winner over Colombia's Santiago Giraldo.

Nadal's next opponent Almagro, a two-time winner in Acapulco, beat Horacio Zeballos of Argentina 6-3, 6-4, firing down 10 aces in the 70-minute encounter.

Almagro's win denied Nadal the chance for revenge against Zeballos, who beat the Spanish number two seed in the Vina del Mar final.

In the women's quarter-finals of this combined ATP and WTA tournament, top seed and defending champion Sara Errani defeated Kiki Bertens of the Netherlands 6-4, 6-4.

Second-seeded Spaniard Carla Suarez Navarro also advanced, downing sixth-seeded Italian Francesca Schiavone 6-7 (5/7), 6-4, 6-2.

Aus seek spin fix

Aside from the assured Michael Clarke and the fighting debutant Moises Henriques, the entire line up capitulated to slower bowling. Clarke displayed impeccable use of the feet as he stroked a first innings century; Henriques made good his first Test with two valiant fifties, the second of them unbeaten on a disintegrating wicket. None of the others were assured in their dealings with R. Ashwin, Ravindra Jadeja and even Harbhajan Singh.

IPL's million-dollar Glenn Maxwell may get a look-in to boost a flailing middle-order, as might Usman Khawaja, who could serve as a direct replacement of the struggling Phil Hughes. Since Shane Watson is playing purely as a batsman, the onus on him of reviving Australia with Clarke cannot be over-stated.

India for once approach a game slightly better placed than their rivals. Sachin Tendulkar, Virat Kohli and Dhoni looked in great form in Chennai and their only worry appears to be the continuously failing opening combination. Virender Sehwag and Murali Vijay looked miserable in the first game, but Shikhar Dhawan and Ajinkya Rahane may have to wait a while to get a look in, since Dhoni has said in media interactions that he would like to give the Sehwag-Vijay pairing a few more chances.

Another point to deliberate upon would be the inclusion (or exclusion) of left-arm spinner Pragyan Ojha -- whose home ground is Hyderabad -- in place of Harbhajan or Jadeja. The off-spinner lost his radar in the first innings and bowled marginally better in the second. Jadeja was consistent, kept up the pressure on batsmen and performed his role of the extra spinner with aplomb; his batting, although it has yet to appear on the international arena, is likely to keep him in the mix.

There is also an outside chance that Dhoni might relinquish a seamer to front a four-pronged spin attack, considering how India's medium pacers did absolutely nothing in Australia's second essay at Chennai. In the last Test at Uppal's Rajiv Gandhi Stadium, Ashwin claimed 12 for 85 as India thrashed New Zealand by an innings and 115 runs. Expect more of the same.

suspended after being sent-off in the 2-1 win at Deportivo La Coruna last weekend.

Mourinho is also expected to give playing time to Pepe, Luka Modric, Kaka and Karim Benzema after they were all left on the bench on Tuesday.

Barca meanwhile are recovering not only from the blow inflicted by Madrid in midweek but from their 2-0 defeat to AC Milan in the Champions League six days previously and midfielder Andres Iniesta accepts they have some issue to address.

"The team is coming from some very good years and we deserve to be treated calmly when we lose to a great team like Real Madrid in the semi-finals of the cup," he told reporters.

"We need to think a lot about these two games, in what we have done well and what can improve. We need to recover the sensation of being a compact and infallible team.

Moreover, don't forget that we are the league leaders and on Saturday we have another difficult battle at the Bernabeu. We need to try and maintain our lead."

However, the bad news didn't end on the field for Barca on Tuesday as Lionel Messi missed training on Wednesday morning and has been treated for fever like symptoms.

With Barca's Champions League return with Milan not until March 12 there is not the same pressure on assistant manager Jordi Roura to rotate his side, but even if Messi is fit there have been widespread calls for David Villa to be handed a start with Cesc Fabregas the most likely candidate to drop out.

Xavi and Alex Song also missed training on Wednesday but both are expected to be fit.

Marshall Ayub and Mominul Haque will compete to make it through to the eleven.

With four pacers and two specialist spinners in the 15-man squad, the warm-up match will also give the team management the opportunity to decide on the kind of bowling attack they might plan on using in the first Test.

satellite channel, has earned the sponsorship right at the cost of Tk 12 lakh and that ATN Bangla would also telecast eighty percent of total matches.

"We are proud of being associated with the Independence Cup as we have been associated with sports for long," said ATN Bangla representative Tasik Ahmed.

Nine invited teams will play the knock-out qualification and top two teams will join the 10 automatic qualifiers in the 12-team final where they will play the round-robin matches dividing into three groups.

Then three group champions and the best runners-up will vie for the semifinals.

Champions and runners will be awarded Tk 5 and Tk 2 lakh respectively while losing sides of semifinals will receive Tk 50,000 each.

Hanif urges Dav to learn Urdu

Cricket

REUTERS, Lahore

Former Pakistan captain Hanif Mohammad believes the team's Australian coach Dav Whatmore needs to learn Urdu if he is to succeed with the players.

Whatmore has come under fire after Pakistan suffered a 3-0 whitewash in the test series in South Africa, failing to take any of the matches into the fifth day.

"I don't want to lay entire blame on him but he needs to learn our common language Urdu if he wants to communicate properly with the players," Hanif said.

"It is important that a coach is able to convey his sentiments, feelings, advice, commands properly to the players. They must be able to understand and feel what their coach is saying," added the 78-year-old.

"I don't think this is happening in the team because how many of our players can communicate or speak English fluently?"

Hanif, who played 55 tests, felt a coach would never be able to convey his feelings or advice to a player through an interpreter or in a language not common to both.

"People don't realise how important a part of the coach's job is communicating properly with his players, who are then responsible for adapting and executing what they are told," he added.

South Africa was Pakistan's second straight test series defeat since Whatmore took over as coach in March last year. They were also beaten in Sri Lanka.

'Emirates Old Trafford' unveiled

Cricket

AFP, London

Old Trafford, one of England's most historic cricket grounds, is to be known formally as Emirates Old Trafford for the next 10 years after Lancashire announced a sponsorship agreement with the airline.

The lucrative deal, reportedly worth up to £10 million (£15 million) and the largest in English county cricket, will help Lancashire fund the redevelopment of the Manchester ground that has been the north-west county's home since its foundation in 1864.

Emirates' name will also appear on the front of Lancashire's Twenty20 shirts and the agreement with the Dubai-based carrier includes a number of other marketing rights.

"This announcement represents another major step in the redevelopment of Old Trafford," Lancashire chairman Michael Cairns said Thursday.

"The intention to secure a naming rights partner was always on our list of objectives; however, it remained paramount that we secure a partner who was actively committed to cricket and its future while at the same time had significant interests in Manchester and the north-west.

"The financial benefits of this deal are a core component of our long-term strategy for commercial sustainability.
