Fatikchhari attack victims still reel from shocks

ARUN BIKASH DEY, back from Fatikchhari

The families of the three Awami League men killed in Thursday's attack allegedly by Hefajat-e Islam and Jamaat-Shibir activists in Fatikchhari upazila of Chittagong are in deep shock, struggling to get over the cruel blow.

The mothers are the hardest to face. Monwara Begum, mother of deceased Faruk Iqbal Bipul, vice-president of Bhaktpur union Jubo League, was wailing, "My son was never involved in any violence. Please return my son, please, please, please..."

Faruk left behind two sons -- one five-year-old and the other two-year-old. Her wife is shocked to the core. She keeps on asking: "Where will I go now with the kids?"

Mother of another deceased, Md Rubel, has stopped talking since she got the news. Her blank stares belie the depth of her grief.

Rubel's uncle Jahangir Alam said he [Rubel] was a day labourer and

Wildlife under threat

Streams drying up in Lawachhara forest; not enough water to drink for animals

MINTU DESHWARA, Moulvibazar

Faced with an acute shortage of water, the animals in Lawachhara rain forest in Moulvibazar are entering nearby villages in search of water, sometimes coming under attack from the villagers.

The streams in the forest have run dry quite rapidly in recent years. As a result, the wildlife of one of the most diversified rain forests in the country are now under threat of extinction.

According to the forest department, some 14 to 15 streams serve as the source of water for the wild animals in the forest. The streams snake along in areas such as Jankichhara, Depalchhara, Jagchhara and Bagmarachhara in the forest.

Stretching over approximately 1,250 hectares of land, Lawachhara rain forest is

Hefajat leaders tell Sylhet rally

Speaking at a rally in Sylhet city, its leaders threatened to wage a tougher movement if Amar Desh acting editor Mahmudur Rahman were not freed immediately.

They alleged Sheikh Hasina's government had shown through its four-year rule that it belonged to anti-Islamic forces. This government, they added, must be toppled, as people did not want them in power anymore.
