statement before a magistrate, describing her role in the killing.
Oishee surrendered at Paltan Police Station 22 hours after her parents' decomposed bodies were recovered from their Chamelibagh residence in the capital on August 16.
On August 25, she confessed to the killing before a Dhaka court.
Six prosecution witnesses have given their statements before different magistrates on different dates.

Meanwhile, Oishee has been repeatedly asking the jail authorities whether there is any penance for her sins.
Earlier on Saturday afternoon she was sent to Dhaka Central Jail from Tongi's National Juvenile Development Centre.
Senior Jail Super Farman Ali told The Daily Star that from Dhaka Central Jail Oishee was sent to Kashimpur's Women's Central Jail in Gazipur.

organisations Jubo League and Swetchhasebak League.
Police arrested two of them on Saturday and they were shown arrested yesterday following filing of the case by family members of the victim.
Of the two arrested: Giyas Uddin is an activist of local Jubo League while Monir Hossain is an activist of Swetchhasebak League.
The case filed by Rocky's father states that the murder occurred as a result of a feud between the two organisations.

Police sources said the victim's family wanted to include a top leader of city unit Jubo League in the FIR but failed due to political pressure.
According to the primary investigation, Rocky might have been killed due to an internal feud in Jubo League over jhut trading, said sources in the police.
