5-star MU thru'

AFP, Paris

Manchester United and Real Madrid, with a dozen European titles between them, powered into the Champions League Last 16 on Wednesday as in Russia holders Bayern Munich produced a record-breaking show in the snow.

Also securing their passage to the knock-out stages of Europe's premier club competition were French champions Paris Saint-Germain.

This trio join already-qualified Chelsea, Bayern Munich, Atletico Madrid, Barcelona and Manchester City.

That leaves the identity of the final eight teams still to be revealed after the final throw of the first round dice in mid-December.

United produced the performance of David Moyes' short reign as manager since succeeding Alex Ferguson, who beamed down from Leverkusen's stand as goals from Antonio Valencia, Jonny Evans, Chris Smalling, Nani and an own-goal from Emir Spahic left the Bundesliga side bemused.

United go into the closing group game against Shakhtar Donetsk as Group A leaders on 11 points, with Shakhtar up to second, three points behind, after a 4-0 win over Real Sociedad.

In Madrid, a fine free-kick from Gareth Bale set Real on their way to a 4-1 rout of Galatasaray which guaranteed them top spot in Group B irrespective of what happens in their closing group game.

PSG also lost a man, Marco Verratti leaving the pitch with the second half barely begun, but the French champions held firm to see off Olympiakos 2-1 and finish as Group C winners.

Their star Swedish striker Zlatan Ibrahimovic celebrated his 100th Champions League appearance with the opener.

Zambrotta to coach Swiss club

AFP, Lausanne

Former Italy defender Gianluca Zambrotta, a World Cup winner in 2006, has been appointed coach of struggling Swiss Second Division side Chiasso, the club said on Wednesday.

The 36-year-old former AC Milan, Juventus and Barcelona defender has been given a contract until June 30 with the aim of saving the club from relegation.

Chiasso, situated just kilometres from Zambrotta's native Como, are second from last in the second division.

Defence still a worry

REUTERS, Madrid

Real Madrid may have strolled into the Champions League last 16 with a 4-1 win at home to Galatasaray on Wednesday but coach Carlo Ancelotti levelled some sharp criticism at centre backs Sergio Ramos and Pepe after the game.

While the nine-times European champions have had little trouble finding the net this season, largely thanks to the scintillating form of Cristiano Ronaldo, their defence has been fragile and they have only managed three clean sheets in 14 games in La Liga and one in five Champions League outings.

Ramos got himself sent off midway through the first half at the Bernabeu when he allowed Umut Bulut to get in front of him before felling the Galatasaray forward when he was through on goal.

Pepe was at fault for the Turkish side's equaliser when he reacted too slowly to a Didier Drogba through ball and Bulut struck in behind him to finish clinically past Iker Casillas.

If Real are to claim the 10th European crown that has eluded them since their last success in 2002 they will need to tighten up at the back as their opponents in the knock-out round are likely to offer a much stiffer challenge than tame Galatasaray.

"The match was made more difficult by the Sergio Ramos sending off," Ancelotti said in an interview with Spanish television broadcaster Canal Plus.

"I don't think the defenders should be taking risks, all they need to do is cover behind them and nothing more," added the Italian, who was clearly upset with Ramos as the Spain international trudged off the pitch.

"We suffered a sending off because of that and also for the Galatasaray goal when we didn't cover our backs properly.

"I have told the defenders many times that they have to cover behind them and I don't need to say it again."

Giggs going strong at 40

AFP, London

With a vintage cameo at Cardiff City last weekend, Ryan Giggs demonstrated that he remains an integral player for Manchester United despite the arrival on Friday of his 40th birthday.

Playing in the city of his birth, the Welshman rose from the bench in the 73rd minute and immediately caught the eye with a first-time through ball for Danny Welbeck, who shot over.

It was Giggs also who led United's vain charge for a winning goal lofting a delicately weighted 50-yard pass into the path of Wayne Rooney, only for the United striker to botch the opportunity by electing to pass.

Fans don C'Ron masks

AFP, Madrid

Thousands of Real Madrid fans donned masks depicting the face of Cristiano Ronaldo ahead of their match with Galatasaray on Wednesday to support the Portuguese star's bid to win the Ballon d'Or for the second time.

Supporters also held up a huge banner at the northern end of the Santiago Bernabeu saying "Cristiano Ronaldo, Ballon d'Or" alongside an image of the player's face.

The display comes in the wake of comments from FIFA president Sepp Blatter in which he described Ronaldo as a "commander" and mocked his demeanour on the field, whilst also saying he personally preferred Barcelona's Lionel Messi as a player.

Those comments were met with consternation in Madrid, not least from Ronaldo himself who described the comments as showing "the respect and consideration that FIFA has for me, for my club and my country."

Ronaldo was not involved on the field for the first time this season as he sat the game out due to a slight muscle strain.

The injury is the only thing that has been able to stop his incredible goalscoring form this season as he has netted 32 times in 22 games for club and country.

That record has made him favourite to be crowned World Player of the Year come January, particularly since FIFA extended the closing date for votes to be cast by two weeks until this Friday, November 29.

Ronaldo won the award in 2008 after guiding Manchester United to Champions League glory, but has finished behind Messi in the voting every year since making his world record breaking move to Madrid four years ago.

Messi and Frenchman Franck Ribery are expected to be Ronaldo's main rivals for the award this year with the three finalists to be named on December 9 ahead of the awards ceremony in Zurich on January 13.

Two dead in WC stadium accident

AFP, Sao Paulo

Two people were killed and another injured Wednesday by the collapse of a crane on the site of a Sao Paulo stadium that will host the opening game of next year's World Cup, authorities said.

"The initial toll of three has been revised downward to two and one injured person was rushed to hospital," a police spokesman told AFP.

Police said a crane fell on workers rushing to complete the Arena Corinthians stadium, where the opening World Cup match is to be held next June.

The world football's governing body FIFA set a December 31 deadline for finishing the work.

The crane collapsed as it was lifting a 500-ton lattice structure to the top of the stands, bringing down three metal structures, Globo television reported.

The company overseeing the construction work immediately halted work and said it would investigate.

The stadium is one of 12 World Cup venues and Brazil has been struggling to overhaul sagging infrastructure in time for the games.

Messi going to Argentina

REUTERS, Madrid

Lionel Messi has completed the first stage of his recovery from a thigh strain and will travel to his native Argentina on Friday as planned to continue treatment, his club Barcelona said on Thursday.

Messi sustained the injury in a La Liga match at Real Betis on November 10 and the World Player of the Year is likely to be sidelined until the middle of January. Club doctor Ricard Pruna and physio Elvio Paulorosso will join him in Argentina next month to supervise the final phase of his recovery programme, Barca said on their website.

"His development is positive as the latest tests conducted show," they said.

Messi will miss Barca's final Champions League Group H match at home to an already eliminated Celtic on December 11, when the Spanish champions will be looking to secure top spot ahead of Italian side AC Milan.

Hart makes his case

AFP, Manchester

Manchester City manager Manuel Pellegrini refused to confirm if Joe Hart had done enough to retain his place after the goalkeeper's spell in exile ended in a 4-2 win over Viktoria Plzen.

Hart had been dropped by Pellegrini after a series of error-prone performances hit a new low with an embarrassing blunder which sent City crashing to a last-minute defeat at Chelsea in October.

The 26-year-old languished on the bench for the next five matches as Costel Pantilimon performed well in his place, with only a solitary appearance for England against Germany to sustain him.

Hart was finally allowed to pull on the City shirt again in Wednesday's Champions League clash at Eastlands and he made a good case for his permanent return with two important saves as the hosts survived a sloppy defensive display to see off the Czech minnows.

Hart couldn't be faulted for either of Plzen's goals and his save to deny Frantisek Rajtoral in the closing moments preserved City's win.

He also nearly provided a remarkable assist for Sergio Aguero with a huge clearance to the Argentine, who fired home only to see his goal ruled out for a foul.

With Swansea due at Eastlands in the Premier League on Sunday, Hart will hope he has done enough to retain his place, but Pellegrini was coy when asked who would start this weekend.

"I think Joe played very well. I didn't expect he would have to work so much during the game," Pellegrini said.

"Plzen had more chances to score than teams who have played us in the Premier League.

"From tomorrow (Thursday) we will start thinking about the next game. Now we are talking about the Champions League. But I repeat I think Joe did a very good performance.

"Tomorrow I will start thinking about who is the best 11 for the next game that includes the goalkeeper and everyone else."
