

Cops Fall Asleep

Magura: A firearm of police went missing from a polling centre in Shalikha upazila, after the police personel fell asleep during the election. Three constables were suspended for negligence of duty.

Ancient Temple Found

Munshiganj: Archaeologists have recently unearthed an ancient Buddhist temple that is believed to be a thousand years old at Nateshwar in Tongibari upazila.

Grabbers From All Quarters

Dhaka: A two-storey building on AC Roy Road is now occupied by 17 families of police personnel. The police have even painted a sign, on the gate to assert their control over the student dormitory of Jagannath University.

33 Number of people killed by knife-wielding attackers in an unprecedented train station rampage that was called by Xinhua news agency "China's 9/11." 30 people were also hurt in the attack which China blamed on separatists from Xinjiang province, home to the mostly-Muslim Uighur minority.

70 Number of billionaires in India, making the country home to the fifth largest group of billionaires in the world, according to China-based research firm Hurun's 2014 global rich list.

12 Number of residential hostels of Jagannath University now occupied by different groups including families of police personnel, a lawmaker, an ex-ward commissioner, influential businessmen and Awami League leaders.