

Further Bangalee

FROM PAGE 5 people, the government apparently put on hold the process. In February last year, Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina laid foundation stones for the two institutions at Rangamati Circuit House.

On May 10 this year, CHT affairs State Minister Bir Bahadur Ushwe Sing and Secretary Naba Bikram Kishore Tripura visited Rangamati as a preparation for acquiring land. The government is in the process of acquiring 50 acres of land.

Though the government took various programmes -- education for all, quality education, it is not sincere in implementing these initiatives in the hill tracts. There are innumerable villages that do not have any primary schools, and hundreds of primary schools have no quality education, said Abul Maqsub.

Also, he said, due to lack of quality teachers and infrastructures in the secondary and higher secondary schools, indigenous students cannot get good education. Therefore, they do not become eligible to go for higher education, he noted.

"Therefore, even a university and a medical college are set up in Rangamati, most indigenous students will not be eligible to study here," Maqsub said. Instead, there will be migration of people from the mainland, which will damage the special characteristics of the hill tracts.

Bangladesh Adivasi Forum General Secretary Sanjeeb Drong said according to the CHT accord, any framing laws or undertaking development activities for the region must be consulted with the CHT Regional Council and three hill district councils, but these had been fully ignored in this case.

"Any imposed development project cannot bring any improvement of indigenous people," he said.

Journalist Salim Samad said military establishments and Bangalee settlements since 1971 have caused eviction of thousands of indigenous people, and the process should not go on to evict them from their own land.

They demanded establishing a paramedical institution in CHT and implement the CHT accord fully before setting up any university and medical college.

Jagannath University Associate Prof Rajib Mir, rights activist Nilufar Banu, filmmaker Rashed Rhine and biodiversity researcher Pavel Partha also spoke.

AL factional clash hurts 20 in Gazipur

They also threw brick chips at a branch of Southeast Bank in the area, as rumour spread that Arif took shelter there.

Police held Arif and nine of his supporters for interrogation, confirmed the ASP.

Prior to his arrest, Arif said Shahidullah's supporters had swooped on them when they were holding the rally.

On the other hand, Shahidullah said there was a pre-scheduled programme of local lawmaker Simin Hossain Rimi.

Arif held his rally aiming to create hindrance to Rimi's programme, he said, adding that Arif had been doing this on a regular basis since he was expelled from the party on disciplinary grounds.

Shahidullah said he had gone to Arif's office to ask him why the latter had called the rally, but Arif's supporters attacked his men.

Meanwhile, protesting the arrest of Arif, his supporters tried to block Kapasia-Kishoreganj road around 6:00pm, but police foiled the attempt, said Ahsan Ullah, OC of Kapasia Police Station.

However, another group of Arif's supporters set fire to a covered van at Dholadia on Dhaka-Kapasia road in Sreepur around 7:00pm, said Mohsinul Qadir, OC of Sreepur Police Station.
