

Bazlur Rahman's 74th birthday today

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Today is the 74th birth anniversary of prominent journalist and former editor of the daily Sangbad late Bazlur Rahman.

The Sangbad, and Bazlur Rahman Foundation will place wreaths at his grave at Mirpur martyred intellectuals' graveyard in the capital at 9:30am, says a press release. He died of a cardiac arrest on February 26, 2008.

Bazlur Rahman also worked for the daily Ittefaq, and for the weekly Ekota as its editor.

He participated in various movements, including the mass upsurge of 1969, and the anti-autocracy movement in the 90s.

He also served the Press Council, Press Institute, Jatiya Press Club, and Bangladesh Sangbad Sangstha.

The road leading to Rampura from Malibagh Super Market in the capital has been in this battered condition for over six months. The situation gets more severe after every downpour. The photo was taken yesterday.

post and continuing with his duties.

Lucy made the remarks after Jahid refused to confess before a magistrate, although earlier, DB Inspector Nibaron Chandra Barman, also the investigation officer of the case, submitted documents to the court of Metropolitan Magistrate Nuru Miah saying Jahid was ready to confess.

However, on Thursday, police informer Nasim Sheikh confessed to another magistrate that he was present when the SI tortured Sujana at the victim's residence, then in the police van, and later at the police station.

In his statement, Nasim said on July 13 a team of about seven to eight people, including five cops and himself, went to Sujana's residence and picked him up.

SI Jahid was arrested on July 16 following an autopsy report, which revealed that Sujana had died of torture. Law enforcers nabbed Nasim the same day after examining CCTV footage of the police station.

The SI was then placed on 14 days of remand in four phases.

On July 20, Lucy filed a murder case with a Dhaka court accusing Salahuddin, Jahid and eight others.

"We have also tried to track his mobile phone but it was turned off," said Sub-Inspector Mustak Chowdhury.

Dr Pradip Kumar Nath of Chittagong Medical College Hospital, who conducted the post-mortem, said, "From primary observation it seems that Dristi died from injuries she received when she was beaten."
