

MONEY LAUNDERING ACC okays charge sheet against Mosharraf

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The Anti-Corruption Commission yesterday approved the charge sheet in a case filed on February 6 against former health and family welfare minister Khandaker Mosharraf Hossain for siphoning off over Tk 9.53 crore to the United Kingdom.

ACC probes found that BNP leader Mosharraf amassed the amount by committing corruption during his stint as health minister from 2001 to 2006.

However, Mosharraf told the investigation officer that he earned the money while studying in the UK between 1970 and 1975 but he failed to show any document about how he had earned the money.

According to the charge sheet, Mosharraf and his wife Bilkis Akhter deposited the money in a joint account--108492-- with Lloyds TSB Offshore Private Banking, St Peterport, UK.

It also found that the bank account was opened after 1994 using a diplomatic passport.

The couple violated a rule of Bangladesh Bank that says every citizen needs the bank's permission to open an account with any foreign bank, said an ACC official.

Bilkis's name is not included in the charge sheet as her involvement was not found, said a source in the ACC.

WAR CRIMES TRIAL Govt removes prosecutor for misconduct

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The government yesterday removed a prosecutor at the International Crimes Tribunal for "breaching discipline and the code of conduct", the first such instance after formation of the prosecution team in March 2010.

Though there was no explanation of how the lawyer, AKM Saiful Islam, committed the violation, many prosecutors believe the reason might be his long absence from duty without notice.

The law ministry letter, which was sent to the Chief Prosecutor Office yesterday, reads, "... AKM Saiful Islam has been removed following the cancellation of his recruitment order for breaching discipline and code of conduct. The order will be effective immediately."

Saiful had taken a 14-day leave in early April and had not joined office afterwards. He neither renewed his leave nor informed anyone whether he would rejoin the prosecution, prosecutor Hrishikesh Saha told The Daily Star.

He said Saiful did not return the official car, too. "One cannot keep a government car in his possession for a long time," Hrishikesh said. "He might have been removed for these reasons."

Saiful was the conducting prosecutor of the war crimes case against Jamaat-e-Islami leader Muhammad Kamaruzzaman, who was sentenced to die for committing war crimes in 1971. He had been also handling the ongoing case against ATM Azharul Islam, another Jamaat leader.

A similar allegation was found against another prosecutor, Mir Iqbal Hossain, who took one month's leave in April, but never renewed it, said Hrishikesh.

Iqbal told The Daily Star that he was suffering from severe eye complications. "I will go to the prosecution office on Sunday. If my health does not permit, I may quit."

He added that he talked to the then acting chief prosecutor, Syed Haider Ali, and extended his leave.

With Saiful removed, the number of prosecutors now stands at 20, who are dealing with six cases at the two war crimes tribunals.

This pothole filled with water on the approach road north of Bangladesh-China Friendship Bridge makes vehicular movement difficult on the street. The road has been in this dismal state for quite a while with the authorities concerned turning a blind eye. The photo was taken on Tuesday in the capital's Postogola.

it to protest Israel's latest offensive in Gaza, which killed over 1,800 Palestinians.

Meanwhile, the Dhaka University Teachers' Association and some students, from a human chain at Aparajeya Bangla on the campus, criticised the Arab nations for their silence.

Addressing the event, Prof Farid Uddin Ahmed, president of Duta, urged all Muslim countries and the West to work together for reconstruction of Gaza.

At the Shahbagh human chain, the speakers criticised USA's support for the Israeli aggression by providing weapons and defending Israel's attack as its right to self-defence.

Prof Ajay Ray, coordinator of the anti-militancy platform, said, "Though a three-day truce is going on, we have seen in history that the Zionist state launches attacks time and again and ignores treaties."

He pointed out Israel's continued settlements in Palestinian land disregarding international agreements.

He also welcomed former British minister Sayeeda Warsi's resignation from the cabinet over UK's failure to condemn the Israeli action.

in 13 tiger ranged countries between 2000 and 2012.

The number of tigers has dwindled from 1,00,000 to less than 4,000 since 1900. And in the Sundarbans of the country there are only 300-500 tigers left, said the participants.

Every year in the country five to six tigers are killed by people while some 30 people are killed by tigers in the Sundarbans, said Manju.

Abdullah Al Islam Jacob, deputy minister for environment and forest, and Dr Johannes Zutt, country director, World Bank, were present as special guests.

Meanwhile in Khulna, a colourful procession was brought out and a discussion was held at Officers Club to raise public awareness to save the Bengal Tigers for protecting biodiversity, reported our Khulna correspondent.

State Minister for Fisheries and Livestock Naryan Chandra Chanda was present.

The department organised similar programmes also in the upazilas near the Sundarbans to discuss issues including tiger poaching, human-tiger conflict and threats posed to the Sundarbans by climate change.

Ban on 3 Indian TV

"Bojhena Se Bojhena" aired by Star Jalsha, three Bangladeshi girls have reportedly committed suicide for not getting "Pakhi" dress used in the serial.

On the other hand, Bangladeshi television channels are not allowed to broadcast in India, said the petition.

Earlier on August 3, Aklas Uddin Bhuiyan served a legal notice on the government, asking it to ban on Indian TV channels in Bangladesh within 24 hours.

The HC is likely hear the petition on Sunday, Aklas told The Daily Star.

The joint commissioner said the gang was aiming to circulate about Tk 20 crore in the market ahead of the upcoming Eid-ul-Azha.

He further said they used to smuggle the rupees to India.

The arrestees confessed to their crimes during primary interrogation, added the DB official.

He said there are at least 10 gangs involved in producing and circulating counterfeit currencies in the capital.

Prof Rahman emphasised that the media follow the child act and the international child rights charter in publishing child-related news.

In his keynote paper, Farid Hossain, the Associated Press's ex-bureau chief in Dhaka, said the media should be careful so that no news affected children.

The speakers, including editors of local dailies and women's leaders, underscored the need for a uniform set of rules on publication of child-related reports.
