Turag not freed yet

Half-hearted eviction drive spares many illegal structures

TAWFIQUE ALI

The Dhaka and Gazipur district administration and the BIWTA called off an eviction drive along the Turag halfway through on August 28, leaving out a large encroached part of the river.

The High Court in a July 24 order had asked them to save the river by clearing it of encroachments.

Stretching from Kholamora to Teramukh across Tongi, the 38-km river has been turned into a lean flow of a virtual sewer by scores of "land owners" occupying the river.

The district authorities and Bangladesh Inland Water Transport Authority (BIWTA) jointly embarked on the three-day drive on August 26 to remove huge earth filling, concrete walls and pillars from the river in Machhimpur mouja of Tongi.

Visiting the area on September 6, this correspondent found that the encroachments were still there.

Md Nurul Islam, deputy commissioner of Gazipur, said, "We couldn't fully remove the encroachments as the BIWTA did not provide us with required technical support."

He also blamed slack monitoring of the eviction drive for the incomplete work. The district officials concerned have been asked to remove the encroachments fully, added the DC.

Talking to this newspaper on Sunday, Md Saiful Islam, joint director of BIWTA, said, "It was not fair to evict those who appear to have grabbed the river because the establishments are actually out of the river area and they have land ownership documents."

"We are often compelled to evict those apparent grabbers due to High Court orders and media reports," he mentioned.

Obama orders Syria airstrikes

AP, Washington

Opening a new military front in the Middle East, Barack Obama authorised US airstrikes inside Syria for the first time, along with expanded strikes in Iraq as part of "a steady, relentless effort" to root out Islamic State extremists and their spreading reign of terror.

The US president announced Wednesday night that he was dispatching nearly 500 more troops to Iraq to assist that country's besieged security forces, bringing the total number of American forces sent there this summer to more than 1,500.

He also urged Congress anew to authorise a programme to train and arm Syrian rebels who are fighting both the Islamic State militants and Syrian President Bashar Assad.

"We will hunt down terrorists who threaten our country, wherever they are," Obama declared in a prime-time address to the nation from the White House. "This is a core

Bablu denies, justifies some party leaders' meeting with PM

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Jatiya Party Secretary General Ziauddin Ahmed Bablu yesterday denied that there was any rift in the party, and said the discussion between the prime minister and four JP leaders over JP's internal affairs was nothing unusual.

"The prime minister [Sheikh Hasina] is the leader of parliament. Therefore, she is also leader of the opposition party. That is why we must talk to the premier," Bablu said at a press conference at the JP chief's office in the capital.

When a reporter asked him whether Hasina was holding sway over the JP, Bablu said the question was absurd.

His statement came a day after JP leaders Moshirul Rahman Ranga and Tajul Islam

Chowdhury along with Kazi Feroz Rashid and Ruhul Amin Hawlader talked to the premier at parliament about the JP chief's decision to remove the duo from JP presidium.

Ranga, also state minister for LGRD and Cooperatives, and Tajul, chief whip of the opposition, sought the premier's interference in the matter, according to JP insiders.

Bablu, however, claimed that the JP leaders didn't seek the premier's intervention in JP's internal matters.

Meanwhile, Ranga and Tajul nearly got into a scuffle with Bablu at the Jatiya Sangsads Bhaban lobby last night.

During a break at yesterday's parliament sitting, Ranga and Tajul got involved in a

9/11: Never ending pain

CBSNEWS ONLINE

Jaime Hazan has been a volunteer and first responder for nearly all his life. He grew up volunteering with his local ambulance squad, and in 2001, he had six years as a New York Emergency Medical Technician under his belt. So when terror struck his city that Sept. 11, he knew he had to help, even though he wasn't affiliated with any volunteer or aid group at the time.

"When I was growing up, volunteering was a staple of our upbringing," Hazan told CBS News. "On 9/11, it was in that spirit that I volunteered -- it wasn't even a choice."

It wasn't until years later, in 2005, that Hazan began noticing symptoms that were ultimately linked to his service at Chelsea Piers on Sept. 11 and Ground Zero on Sept. 12.

"I was in denial for a very long time," he said. He couldn't stay in denial for long, though, as his respiratory problems and other symptoms changed his life. "It destroyed my livelihood," he said. Sept. 12, 2001, when he faced the greatest exposure to toxins, "will go down as the day that changed my life forever."

Convicted Adflame director gets HC bail

The High Court has granted one year's bail to Helena Pasha, a director of Adflame Pharmaceuticals, who was sentenced to 10 years in prison in the paracetamol syrup adulteration case.

The HC bench of Justice Sayed AB Mahmudul Huq and Justice Akram Hossain Chowdhury on Wednesday passed the order following an appeal filed by Helena against the lower court verdict.

Helena is now at the Coronary Care Unit (CCU) of Bangabandhu Sheikh Mujib Medical University under custody, he said, adding that Helena is now 78-year old.
