

DARSHAN CHAKMA

Some of the university going students in Dhaka come from different districts of Bangladesh. Sometimes it takes them a couple of months or even a year to get used to this unknown city, unknown life and unknown faces. They live barely and struggle everyday to make their ends meet. They study hard to make it big in this cruel city of millions. Deprived of any healthy entertainment, they resort to the telly to get their daily dose of serials.
