

Suraiya Morshed no more

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Suraiya Morshed, former director of Scholastica, died after a prolonged illness yesterday morning at United Hospital in the capital.

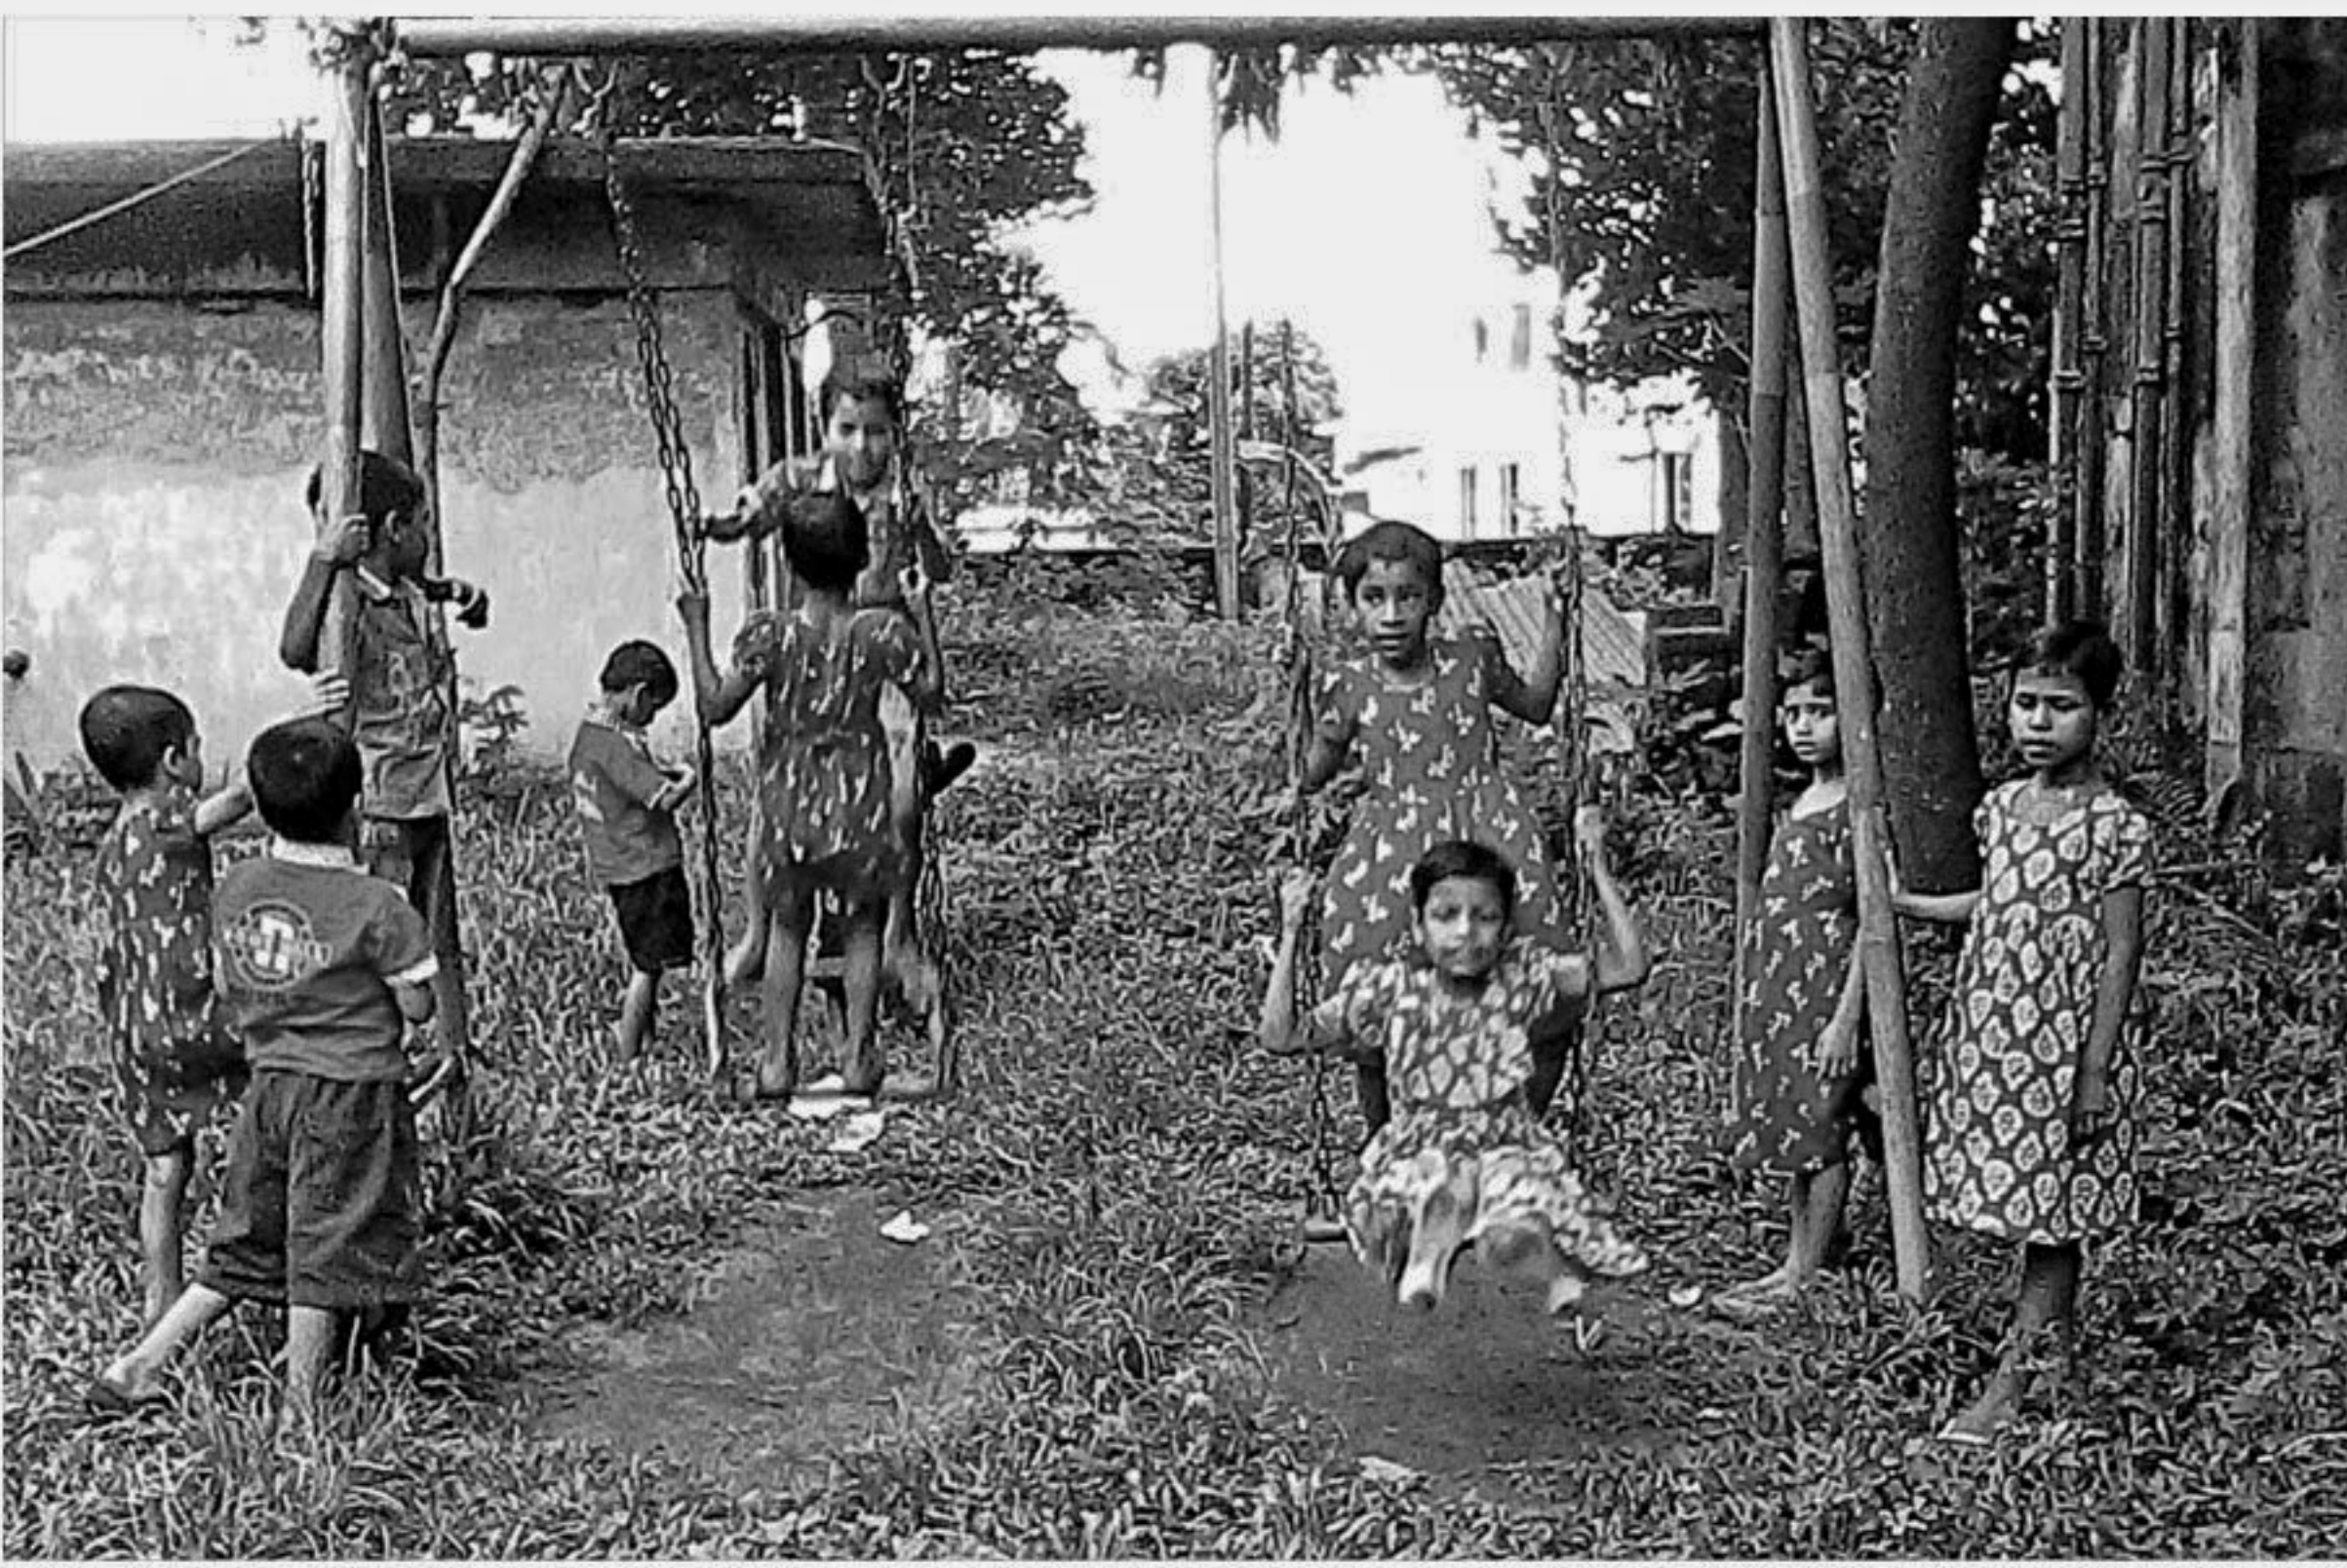

She breathed her last at 10:10am. She is survived by her husband AKH Morshed, three children, and a host of relatives and well-wishers.

Suraiya, the daughter of late Saidur Rahman and late Salma Rahman of Jalpaiguri, was buried at Banani graveyard following a namaz-e-janaza after Asr prayers.

Her family requested all to pray for the salvation of the departed soul.

United Nations' Population Fund (UNFPA) and Debate for Democracy organised the weeklong festival where eight educational institutions participated. In the final mock parliamentary debate, Vigarunnisa Noon School and College, and Holy Cross College played the ruling and the opposition parties respectively. Vigarunnisa became the champion. Both the teams got crests and certificates while the champion got Tk 30,000 in prize money and the runner-up Tk 20,000.

Haven for abandoned, lost children

SHAHADAT HOSSAIN, Ctg

Homeless, abandoned or lost children can find a safe haven at Chhotomoni Nibas, a shelter for children.

Located in Roufabad area of Chittagong city, the state-run shelter began its journey in 1984 and since then it has been a home for 323 children.

Six-year-old Ayesha, who has been living there for about a year, does not know where her parents are.

"My father's name is Mahmudul Hasan and my mother's name is Nargis. My home is in Baroyarhat." This is all that little Ayesha knows.

Joraganj Police in Mirsarai of Chittagong found her wandering about and gave her to the shelter.

"I want my mother and father," she told this correspondent during a visit to Chhotomoni Nibas last week.

Like Ayesha, there are 51 children aged between three and seven at the shelter right now. The shelter takes in children between the ages of zero and seven. At the age of seven, the children are taken to other government facilities like Shishu Paribar.

"Most of these children have either been abandoned or are lost," said Ruma Parvin, a caretaker at the shelter.

The shelter also takes care of children whose mothers have been jailed, she added.

"We try to take care of them as a mother would," said Parvin, who is called "Khalamma", or mother's sister, by the children at Chhotomoni Nibas.

Siblings -- Shahida Akter Pinky, 5, and Minhaj, 4 -- do not know their address. Like Ayesha, they were found by police in Patiya upazila seven months back. Since then the shelter has been their new home.

However, the shelter cannot replace their real home as despite getting everything there, little Minhaj cries for his mother regularly.

Most of the children only know their buses carrying the teachers at Chhararkul in Hathazari upazila of Chittagong on Wednesday.

Following the incident, police picked up 15 people and recovered six locally made machetes, five crude bombs and banners and posters of Shibir in a cottage near Suhrawardi Hall.

Meanwhile, police recovered 21 crude bombs from bushes behind the canteen of F Rahman Hall yesterday.

The next day, a murder case was filed with the police station accusing five persons -- Shah Selim Tipu, his son Junaid Ahmed Riad and Riad's friends Shahadat Hossain Shaju, Zahedul Islam Shawon and Mahboob Ali Khan Danny.

upcoming committee, started clashing around 10:30pm on Saturday, said sources.

A huge number of BCL activists from other institutions called in by both factions joined the fighting that kept general students in panic till early yesterday. Habibur, a witness and student, told The Daily Star. The injured were treated in Sher-e-Bangla Medical College Hospital.

The fighting stopped after police intervention.

The general students yesterday brought out a protest march and held a human chain, alongside submitting the memorandum, in which they demanded punishment for the outsiders and also distribution of quality food at the lone hostel of the institute, located on the medical college premises in Barisal city.

They announced to boycott the upcoming examination scheduled for September 22 if the institute authorities do not take steps to fulfil their demands.

Dr Kumud Ranjan Bala, the principal of the institute, said they would try to meet the demands after consulting with the higher authorities as soon as possible.

Adib and Sohel blamed each other for the clash.

Fresh charges against

re-framed the charges in response to a petition filed by Special Public Prosecutor Abu Abdullah saying that earlier another Dhaka court framed charges against them in the case under section 26 of the Special Powers Act 1974 which is not applicable.

After framing the fresh charges, the court fixed September 21 to re-start trial of the case.

Following the blasts, two cases--one for murder and the other for possession and use of explosive substances--were filed with the police station.

In the killing case, a Dhaka court on June 23 gave death penalty to eight Huji members, including Hannan, and sentenced six others to life term imprisonment.
