GONOJAGORON MANCHA

Govt protecting war criminals

Accuses Imran's faction

DU CORRESPONDENT

The faction of Gonojagoron Mancha led by Imran H Sarker yesterday accused the government of protecting the war criminals and suppressing the anti-war crimes protesters.

Addressing a rally at the capital's Shahbagh, its spokesperson Imran said the ruling party had infiltrated its activists into the Mancha so that no one could speak in favour of the movement.

Around 7:00pm, when the protesters brought out a procession, police barred them, saying they received instructions about this from their high-ups, said Maruf Rosul, an organiser.

Later, the activists continued their protest in front of the National Museum till 9:30pm. The faction will stage a public rally at Shahbagh today at 4:00pm.

Meanwhile, another faction of the Mancha, under the banner of Shahbagh Andolon, brought out a torch procession and staged a separate rally at Shahbagh, demanding the capital punishment for Sayedee, who was sentenced to jail till death on Wednesday.

They too would hold a separate programme at the same venue at the same time.

Although both the groups were demanding the capital punishment for Sayedee, they ended up in a mud-slinging, criticising certain members of the other faction.

Court orders

Police had detained four suspects and interrogated some 40 people. Frustrated with its performance, the High Court in April 2012 handed the case over to Rab.

One of the two guards, Humayun Kabir, who was on the run, was arrested on February 9, 2013, but since then no "progress" had been made.

over the last two years while more are under construction on the 20-kilometre river, which falls into the Bay of Bengal in Kuakata.

No action has been taken to prevent the grabbing, it added. Bela also attached a The Daily Star report of February 5 headlined "Legal action against grabbers of Shibbaria River soon".

Demonstrators of a faction of Gonojagoron Mancha led by Imran H Sarker hold a rally at Shahbagh in the capital yesterday demanding death penalty for war crimes convict Delawar Hossain Sayedee who was sentenced to jail until death by the Supreme Court on Wednesday.

Dhaka-Gazipur route.

Workers of human haulers, which ply on the road, said at the beginning of the month, they collectively filled up several potholes through dumping rubbish, spending around Tk 8,000.

However, their effort was futile as the potholes were larger than they thought.

Repair of the half a kilometre road has become a necessity to prevent accidents, and vehicles from being damaged, they said.

Mohammad Monju, a bus driver of Gungun Paribahan on the Jatrabari-Mawa route, said due to the road's extremely battered condition, the bus he drives had been damaged several times just in September alone.

He said the owner spent about Tk 27,000 on repairs.

"I have often thought of quitting my job because it is very difficult to drive on this road. Driving on a busy road like the Dhaka-Mawa highway is better," he said.

Mamun, who drives a human hauler, said his income has significantly reduced as it takes more time to make a trip on the battered road.

He said his trips reduced to six from nine per day.

Contacted, Jahangir Alam, chief engineer of DSCC, said they will start repair works on the stretch of the road within a few days, before Eid-ul-Azha.

He further said that the city corporation would set up a 1km drainage line beside the road under a Tk 3 crore project, so that the road does not become submerged in rainy season.

30 hurt as management staff

"With iron rods and sticks in hands, they started beating us up without instigation," Aleya said.

About 20 of the injured were treated in Dhaka Medical College Hospital, and the rest at local clinics.

Another injured worker, Shathi Akter, said they demanded formation of a trade union four months ago, and the owner initially approved that after they had submitted documents mentioning 14 as committee members.

However, the owner later cancelled the proposal and formed a committee comprised of his favourites, she added.

"We demonstrated several times to press home our demand and the owner's side carried out an attack on us during Ramadan," she said.

On the condition of anonymity, a director of the factory told The Daily Star that the incident had taken place between two groups of workers outside the factory.

He said they had settled the matter yesterday afternoon.

Abdul Jalil, officer-in-charge of Badda police, however, said the incident resulted from a feud over the formation of a union. He said several officials were among the injured.

bench passed the order "on special circumstances considering his status of law-maker".

Samarendranath Bishwas, the assistant attorney general, opposed the writ petition on grounds that the Supreme Court earlier discouraged the HC from passing such kinds of order.

Mokhlesur said the HC was aware of the SC ruling, but it passed the order for Amanur saying that the order would not be considered a precedent.

In an order on April 20 this year, a three-member bench of the SC said, "We want to make it clear that the High Court cannot issue any such directive (not to arrest or harass anyone)."
