NUMBER PLATES AND RFID TAGS

Taxpayers get no service

Vehicle owners forced to shell out for new plates and tags, RFID fails to stop auto theft

Zillur Rahman lost his car minutes after he parked it at the TSC on Dhaka University campus on June 8 evening. He rushed to Shahbagh Police Station nearby, and a wireless message was dispatched about the theft. He also talked to a few top police officials until midnight asking for help to find the car.

Zillur, a consultant at the World Bank, tried to contact the BRTA (Bangladesh Road Transport Authority) Elenbari office in Tejgaon, which is equipped to track vehicles, but failed as the office was closed by then.

The next morning, he went to the office again. But BRTA officials were of no help; they suggested that he ask the police for help. Zillur returned home utterly dejected.

A year ago, he had to pay Tk 3,652 to get special number plates and Radio Frequency Identification (RFID) tags installed on his car so that it could be traced. But it all came to naught.

The government has been forcing people to buy recto-reflecting number plates and RFID tags for their vehicles under a Tk 600 crore scheme that does the vehicle owners no good.

Owners of cars, buses, minibuses, microbuses, sport utility vehicles, trucks and other large vehicles are charged Tk 3,652 each while those of motorbikes and three-wheelers like auto-rickshaws have to pay Tk 1,805 for

A train rushes by structures dangerously close to rail lines in Karwan Bazar yesterday. After four people were killed being run over by a train at an illegal market on the rail lines recently, the authorities had removed illegal structures there. Their effort went in vain apparently and people still occupy the lines, inset. The photo was taken 50 yards away from the accident site.

Hartal affects education, transport

4 kids hurt as abandoned bomb goes off

STAR REPORT

Education, businesses, transport and public life brace for more disruptions as yet another countrywide hartal, this time from dawn to dusk, starts with the Jamaat-e-Islami's 24-hour shutdown drawing to a close this morning.

The BNP-led 20-party alliance on Saturday called the 12-hour hartal from this morning to protest the constitutional amendment that empowered parliament to impeach Supreme

BB seeks account information of 13 Sons of Khaleda, Ershad, Maya on list; banks given 7 days to report

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Bangladesh Bank has asked banks to send account information of 13 people, including that of Jatiya Party Chairman HM Ershad's son Rahgir Al Mahi Ershad and BNP Chairperson Khaleda Zia's son Arafat Rahman Koko.

Disaster Management and Relief Minister Mofazzal Hossain Chowdhury Maya's son Sajeul Haque Chowdhury (Dipu) was also on the list. The list was sent by the central bank's Financial Intelligence Unit (FIU), which deals with money laundering, financing criminal activities and suspicious transactions.

"We usually ask banks for account information in line with the requirements of Anti-Corruption Commission and other agencies. This is part of that process," said a BB official, seeking anonymity.

The banks have been asked to provide the information within seven days.

The people on the list include Haji Mohammad Salim, Jubo League

KEPZ 'failed to use land'

Muhith justifies govt plan to take back part of it

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Finance Minister AMA Muhith yesterday said the government would take back part of the land it had given to YoungOne Corporation for industrial development.

The Korea-based company was allocated about 2,500 acres 17 years ago to set up Korean Export Processing Zone (KEPZ) but it couldn't use even 500 acres, the minister said. "This is wasteful."

These remarks came as Muhith was talking to journalists at his secretariat office and his attention was drawn to The Daily Star reports on government plan to take back the land.

Muhith said the KEPZ authorities would have to prove that 500 acres of land had been used and then surrender the rest.
