deadline, we can act accordingly, but fining is unfair," Shemul said. Mirza Shahadat Hossain, chairman of Bangladesh Bread, Biscuit and Confectionary Manufacturers Association, noted a mobile court that fined a bakery shop, prompting law enforcers to take away a good amount of products without providing a seizure list as per law. The supermarket executives accused the BSTI, city corporations and district administrations of operating mobile courts without any coordination and suggested strong monitoring of factories instead of retail shops to ensure standard of the products. BSTI Director General Iqramul Haque said mobile courts were run as per the law but there could be some shortcomings. He assured the traders of addressing the problems. He said the Safe Food Act 2013 has provisions of creating a single authority which, once established, will be able to best coordinate the monitoring activities. Iqramul asked the retail shop officials to immediately inform the BSTI if they find anyone of the institution seeking financial privileges from the retailers. "We will take legal action immediately." BSTI Director Kamal Prashad Saha said traders must be aware of the food related laws and standards and go by those considering rising public health concerns.
