

KERANIGANJ FOUR MURDERS

Robbers killed them

Finds primary police investigation

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

A primary police investigation found that the couple and their two children who were found dead inside their rented flat in South Keraniganj on Wednesday were murdered by a gang of robbers.

Keraniganj police yesterday said the gang was also involved in Yaba trade.

The dead were identified as Mohammad Saju, 30; his wife Ranjina Begum, 25; their seven-year-old son Imran and two-year-old daughter Sanjida alias Moni. Their identities were confirmed by their relatives at Sir Salimullah Medical College morgue yesterday.

Azizur Rahman, a nephew of Saju, told this correspondent that his uncle lived in his village home at Debiganj of Panchagarh district and studied up to class five. Later he came to South Keraniganj.

Saju was once a rickshaw-puller who later became a truck driver. He also drove CNG-run three wheelers, Azizur said.

Saju had been living with his family in South Keraniganj for about 14 years but he moved to a new flat under the same than two months ago. It was in the new flat where their bodies were found.

"My uncle's standard of living was very low but during the last Eid he went home in a hired microbus and spent lavishly. In addition to his family, he had three friends with him," said Azizur.

Perhaps he has got some bad company lately, hence he communicates less with his relatives in the village, Azizur quoted some of his relatives as saying.

"We did not even know that Saju uncle moved to a new flat. We actually lost touch with him. Then we were informed by police about their brutal murders," he said.

Jamaluddin Mir, officer-in-charge (OC) of South Keraniganj police station, told The Daily Star that three persons have so far been arrested in this connection.

Police gathered that Saju had lately been mixing with a gang of organised robbers who might have killed him and his family members over intra-gang rivalry and share of Yaba business, said the OC.

On Wednesday, police recovered the bodies and found them gagged and their hands and legs tied behind their backs.

The family never interacted with people in the neighbourhood and Saju went out early in the morning and returned late at night, locals said.

2 workers die from electrocution

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Two workers were electrocuted to death while repairing electric cables on Uttara Gausul Azam Avenue in the capital yesterday.

The dead were Abu Bakar, 26, and Al Mamun, 30, both worked for Dhaka Electric Supply Company Ltd (Desco).

Engg Mizanur Rahman, who was supervising the workers, said four staff of Desco were working on the cables when the lines suddenly became active. Two sustained slight injuries, while Abu and Mamun died on the way to Dhaka Medical College Hospital. Mizanur claimed the control room activated the lines before they were given instructions to do so.

Web portal for rural women launched

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Women in rural areas who have little access to information technology can now learn about matters related to everyday life through a web-portal, said State Minister for Women and Children Affairs Meher Afroz Chumki yesterday.

"The idea is to introduce wonders like skype and facebook to women who have never even attended school," she said while launching the portal www.tottoapa.gov.bd, a part of the project, Totto Apa (information sister), in the capital.

FORCED CONVERSION TO ISLAM OF 200 HINDUS' IN 1971
Another witness backs allegations against Jabbar

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Another prosecution witness yesterday corroborated the testimonies of some previous witnesses that on the directives of war crimes accused Abdul Jabbar, the anti-liberation Razakar force forcibly converted around 200 Hindus, including himself, to Islam in Pirojpur in May 1971.

The 10th prosecution witness, Bimal Chandra Bepari, then about 17 years old, said Razakars also gave them names after the forced conversions, at Kulupara and Nathpara of Phuljhuri village of Mathbaria upazila. "The Razakars also looted 72 bundles of tin sheets, ornaments, and other valuables from their houses," he told the International Crimes Tribunal-1.

On Wednesday, the ninth witness, Ahmed Mia, 60, accused Jabbar of the conversions.

Bimal Chandra also corroborated that ex-Jatiya Party lawmaker Jabbar, now absconding, termed the supporters of the Awami League, independence, freedom fighters, and Hindus the enemies of Islam, and vowed to destroy them in Pirojpur during the war.

Hindus' wealth and properties are war booty and thus can be used by Muslims. Jabbar was quoted by the witnesses as telling the rallies of collaborators in Pirojpur. If Hindus want to reside in the country, they must be Muslim, he would say, according to the witnesses.

He was attacked at a restaurant in front of the campus with six or seven others. Another BCL man, Ainul Islam, suffered minor injuries.

Sust BCL vice president Anjan Roy, a witness, said there were around 10-12 masked attackers carrying iron rods and cleavers. They fled shortly afterwards.

Following the attack around 10:10pm, BCL men vandalised 20 vehicles including auto-rickshaws, easy bikes, and burnt a rickshaw van on the road.

Anjan accused Islami Chhatra Shibir men of the attack but could not name anyone.

Jalalabad police arrested Sust Shibir's school affairs secretary Zabedur Rahman in this connection, and a case was filed without naming anyone by the university registrar.

However, the university officials and BCL insiders said Wednesday's incident might have been tied to a factional fighting in May last year, when Uttam led an attack on one of his peers and maimed him for life. Uttam had been sued for this and suspended for two semesters after he was found guilty by the university authorities.

Dhaka Saarc cultural capital for 2016

Bamiyan of Afghanistan for 2015

OUR CORRESPONDENT, New Delhi

Dhaka will be the "cultural capital" of Saarc for 2016 while Bamiyan in Afghanistan will be its first "cultural capital" for 2015 to host festivals on literature, films, foods and dances.

As the cultural capital of the South Asian Association of Regional Cooperation, Dhaka would also host a "cricket connect exhibition" to showcase relations regarding cricket, its glory and major achievements and other cricketing heritages of the member countries.

Joint Secretary of Indian Culture Ministry V Srinivas was talking to reporters while disclosing these first ever initiatives adopted under a "Delhi Resolution" at the Saarc Culture Ministers' conference held in New Delhi yesterday.

Cultural Affairs Minister Asaduzzaman Noor also joined the summit.

Afghanistan would also host a "cricket connect exhibition" and an under-19 cricket match with India in 2015.

PROPOSED REDUCTION OF MARRIAGEABLE AGE
Nari Jogajog Kendra expresses concerns

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Nari Jogajog Kendra (NJK) yesterday expressed concern over the proposal of lowering the minimum age of girls and boys for marriage in the draft of child marriage restraint act.

The proposed act would reduce, for marriage, the minimum age of girls from 18 to 16, and of boys from 21 to 18.

NJK, an NGO based advocacy coalition working for women's rights in Bangladesh, cited a study of WHO saying that early marriage and early pregnancy results in substantially increased health risk of both the mother and the child, said a press release.

WHO in collaboration with the UN Population Fund in 2011 published guidelines on preventing early pregnancies.

The organisations recommended reducing the number of marriages before the age of 18, and reducing the number of pregnancies before the age of 20 for girls, added the release.

It further added that different studies and research indicate that early marriage is linked to extremely high rate of domestic violence in Bangladesh.

Ticket hogging VIPs leave people in quagmire

PANKAJ KARMAKAR

As of previous years, a large portion of bus, train and launch tickets have been kept reserved for VIPs ahead of Eid intensifying the crisis for tickets among common people.

While people desperately rushed around and patiently stood for hours in long queues, VIPs -- ministers, lawmakers, government officials, politicians, businessmen, journalists and people of a few other sections -- booked tickets through phone calls to high-ups of the authorities concerned.

"As they are influential and have close relations with many of our top level officials, we try to entertain their request," said a Bangladesh Railway official.

"This year, the pressure from VIPs is much higher than previous years. If all the requests are fulfilled, we will not be able to sell any ticket of some trains to common people," said a director of Bangladesh Railway seeking anonymity.

"I do not know how we will manage it. Only Allah can help us," he told The Daily Star last evening.

As per railway rule, only five percent of the tickets are supposed to be kept reserved for VIPs and another five for railway staff.

Alamgir Hossain, an official of private bus operator Shyamoli Paribahan said, "The demand is very high for tickets for October 1 to 4. The number of requests we received is several times the capacity we have."
