

SPLINTER CELL MOVIE TO BEGIN PRODUCTION EARLY NEXT YEAR

The film has been in the works for quite some time now, and stars Tom Hardy in the lead role of badass Navy Seal operative Sam Fisher. The project may also involve Doug Liman, director of Edge of Tomorrow. The film currently lacks a release date, but Basil Ilwanyk, producer for movies like The Expendables, gave a brief production update that points toward a production start date early next year. From Ubisoft and 20th Century Fox, Splinter Cell was written by Sheldon Turner (X-Men: First Class, Up in the Air). If production does start early next year, than we should expect to hear some more updates on the film in the coming months.

PLANET OF THE APES SERIES COULD SPAN MORE THAN 3 FILMS

Even before Dawn of the Planet of the Apes opened in theaters this summer, 20th Century Fox was already making plans for a third film in the rebooted franchise, but after "Dawn" outgrossed the preceding "Rise" by over $225 million and became the highest-grossing film in the series, the studio might have begun thinking even bigger. When asked about some information on the next movie, he said that the story hasn't been finalized yet as they are still writing the story.

The Untitled Third Planet of the Apes film will be directed once again by Matt Reeves, who is co-writing the script with Mark Bomback. It's set for release on July 29, 2016.

TOM HANKS & AUSTIN STOWELL Joining Steven Spielberg's Cold War Thriller

Tom Hanks is starring as an American lawyer tasked with rescuing a pilot downed in the Soviet Union in Steven Spielberg's upcoming untitled Cold War thriller as well as Austin Stowell. The film, based on a true story, stars Tom Hanks as an American lawyer who agrees to help the CIA rescue a pilot being detained in the Soviet Union. Stowell will play the pilot, Francis Gary Powers. This marks the second Spielberg project for Stowell, who is currently shooting TNT's Public Morals, a period drama Spielberg is executive producing. 20th Century Fox and DreamWorks are co-financing the film, with Fox handling international distribution. Disney is handling domestic distribution. The film hits U.S. theaters on Oct. 16, 2015.

ATTACK ON TITAN CAST OF MOVIE R IN NEW POSTERS

The Attack On Titan series took manga/anime fans all over the world by storm, and a movie has been in the works since 2011. The film's release has been delayed multiple times since then, but finally the cast has officially been confirmed, and the film is slated to premiere in the summer of 2015! The movie will be shot entirely in Japan and will be directed by Shinji Higushi, the absolute genius who's responsible for the VFX of movies like Godzilla.

STARZ ORDERS EVIL DEAD SEQUEL SERIES

Starz ordered a follow-up series to the cult "Evil Dead" film franchise, titled "Ash vs. Evil Dead." The new show will reteam with director Sam Raimi and star Bruce Campbell, who will reprise his iconic role as Ash, the stock boy, aging playboy and chainsaw-handed monster hunter who has spent the last 30 years avoiding responsibility, maturity and the terrors of the Evil Dead.

When a Deadite plague threatens to destroy all of mankind, Ash is finally forced to face his demons personal and literal. Destiny, it turns out, has no plans to release the unlikely hero from its "Evil" grip. The series is slated for 10 half-hour episodes set to debut in 2015.

"Evil Dead has always been a blast. Bruce and I are thrilled to have the opportunity to tell the next chapter in Ash's lame, but heroic saga." said Sam Raimi who will be directing the first episode and will then serve as executive producer.