

Remembering Past Wounds

The magnitude of the nation's loss is often forgotten amidst the euphoria of Victory Day celebrations. To be proud of the birth of our nation is to be aware of its significance from a global perspective. "1971: The International Chess Game" is a piece which brings forth the complex workings of international politics which is often overlooked. On the other hand, we can never forget the collective pain we bore. Zoheb Mashiur's "Wounds" powerfully sums up the depth of the grief suffered.

We can rise beyond our past trauma and look forward. Telenor Youth Summit has stepped forward to engage young individuals worldwide to harness the unlimited power of digital communication to bring about social change. The future is now.

– Labiba Adil, Sub-Editor, SHOUT

MIXTAPE

Nouvelle Vague
Teenage Kicks

Cocteau Twins
Pandora

Wilco
Jesus etc.

Twin Sister
Ginger

Charlotte Gainsbourg
The Operation

ACCA Seminar & Open Information Day

Organised by LCBS Dhaka & ACCA Bangladesh

Who should Attend ??

SSC/HSC,O/A-levels passed or Graduates from any Discipline can attend.

Date : 20th December (10am-6pm) & Seminar is at 11.30 am.

Venue : LCBS Dhaka, House#39/B
Road#14/A, Satmosjid Road
Dhanmondi Dhaka-1209.

Highlights of the Event

1. Free ACCA/AFD registration
2. 15% Tuition fees of on spot admission
3. Up to 50% Scholarship on tuition fees for meritorious students.

For free registration please bring your

1. Passport Size Picture
2. All Academic Certificate
3. Passport/NID/DOB Certificate.

CALL TO BOOK YOUR PLACE: 01746 388644-47 and 01680 436235

House # 39/B | Road # 14/A (Sat Masjid Road) | Dhanmondi | Dhaka-1209 | P: +88 02 8191393 | 8191394
E-mail : info@lcbsthaka.com | admission@lcbsthaka.com
www.facebook.com/lcbs.dhaka | www.lcbsthaka.com

ACCA Skill & Professional level Subject F4-P7 only 12500 Tk

(Class Starting Date 5th January '15)

REJOINER FROM UNILEVER

In the article 'Groomed to Succeed' (December 4, 2014 issue of SHOUT) misleading information had been published regarding Unilever Bangladesh.

The article incorrectly compared BAT's method of recruitment of fresh graduates to that of Unilever's.

While BAT uses BOM – its campus competition, as a platform for recruiting fresh graduates, Unilever's platform for recruitment does not include any campus competition.

Unilever's campus business competition Bizmaestros provides students with the opportunity to experience the thrill of real business. It showcases the ways of working at Unilever and informs final year students what to expect of a career at Unilever. Bizmaestros winners also represent Bangladesh at a global Unilever competition – Future Leaders League, where students can interact with global Unilever leaders.

Unilever recruits fresh graduates or experienced professionals through various processes. Fresh graduates can enter Unilever through the Unilever Future Leader Programme or Unilever Leadership Internship Programme.

To find out more about Unilever Bizmaestros or Unilever Bangladesh's recruitment processes, please visit the Unilever facebook page <https://www.facebook.com/UnileverCareersBangladesh> or Unilever website:<http://www.unilever.com.bd/careers-jobs/>.

OUR RESPONSE

We regret the perceived ambiguity in our published article. The relevant paragraph from the article states:

"Over the years, other companies like Unilever have adopted similar methods to recruit talented graduates from the pool of universities. Considering BOM's success, it wouldn't be surprising for more to do the same."

We did not wish to make a comparison between Bizmaestros and Battle of Minds. Our intention was to state that they are both good initiatives and that there should be greater interest in events that seek out young talent and teach them valuable business skills.