Is Vin Diesel playing Black Bolt in Marvel's INHUMANS?

Vin Diesel has hinted that he may star in Marvel Comics' Inhumans after he posted an image with a caption reading 'Are You Inhuman?' to his Facebook page. The action movie A-list, who is known for his roles in xXx and The Fast And The Furious, featured in the recent Marvel movie Guardians of the Galaxy and this image suggests he's now being lined up for a second Marvel outing in Inhumans. Potentially as the character Black Bolt. Back in August he posted a picture of Groot, his character in Guardians of the Galaxy, with a message reading: 'I get the strange feeling that Marvel thinks I'm Inhuman... Haha.' But before we start counting our strong, muscley chickens, we must remember that Robert Downey, Jr. frequently posts fan-made art to his Facebook page which is subsequently turned into "news" by various media outlets. It's possible that Diesel, desperate to star in the movie, has done the same thing in order to turn the heat up on the casting directors.
