Jennifer Lopez is showing off her body in her new thriller 'The Boy Next Door'. In the film, the 45-year-old mother of two plays a high school teacher being terrorized at home and work by a much younger guy (Ryan Guzman) who is obsessed with her, reported E!Online. Lopez said she never thought of using a body double as they needed things as close to real as possible. "It was all me. And all Ryan, by the way... Those scenes are embarrassing. They are uncomfortable, but your job as an actress or an actor is to make it believable and this movie in particular... Hinges on if that was believable, that it was enough to make this guy go insane," she said.

'Shamitabh' has a plot never seen before in Bollywood

Indian cinema's megastar Amitabh Bachchan is ready to stun the audiences one more time with his performance in 'Shamitabh'. The film has been directed by 'Paa' fame filmmaker R Balki, who so far has been successful in keeping the storyline under wraps. Bachchan senior took to micro-blogging site Twitter and revealed that the plot of 'Shamitabh' is so unique that it has never been seen before in Indian cinema, nor will it happen again. He posted: "This I can say for #shamitabhMovie, its a plot never seen before in Indian Cinema... And... will never again!"

Sanjay Gupta's 'Kaante' set for a sequel

Filmmaker Sanjay Gupta had delivered a blockbuster in the form of 'Kaante' in 2002. The film had an ensemble cast of megastar Amitabh Bachchan, Sanjay Dutt, Suniel Shetty, Mahesh Manjrekar, Lucky Ali and Kumar Gaurav in the lead roles. The movie was loved for its music and power-packed performances. In an interview with the leading daily, the filmmaker was quoted as saying that the script is ready for the sequel, which will see three of the original characters getting reprised in the second part. The film had a special number by Malaika Arora Khan, which became a chart-buster instantly. Now, with 'Kaante' sequel in the pipeline, will we see Sanju baba and Big B coming together in a film again? Only time will spill more beans.

Bipasha Basu says no to college girl roles

Actress Bipasha Basu, who has turned 35, says she's only keen to do roles that suit her and that she's not game to essaying a college girl on the big screen. Asked why she's picking horror films, the bold and beautiful actress said: "If at all anybody offers me a role of a college girl, I won't do it. You have to do roles that suit you." "People want to see me in strong roles...whether it's in an artistic film or comedy. They want a lot of strength (in the character). And I only care about my audience, about entertaining the people who love me," she added. Bipasha is currently busy promoting 'Alone', directed by Bhushan Patel. It marks TV actor Karan Singh Grover's debut in Bollywood. The actress is happy with the response that the trailer has received, and she is hopeful the movie will be lapped up once it releases Jan 16.
