

Stranded Cars

Chittagong. Seized motor vehicles including private cars and motorcycles, gradually wear away and go out of order as Chittagong Metropolitan Police takes no follow-up action to dispose of those.

A Cold, Cold Winter

Dhaka. A family huddles on a rickshaw in front of the Central Shaheed Minar. A trough of low pressure in the Bay of Bengal has set off a possible weeklong cold wave in motion in the country.

1 Amount (in millions of USD) at which a real-life Transformer suit is available for purchase on Amazon. The machine, developed by a Japanese robotics company, functions like an automatic four-wheel drive, controlled by the user from inside a cockpit and can also be operated with a smartphone.

200 Number of elderly members of Northern Iraq's Yazidi minority who were released by the Islamic State (ISIS) group last week.

22 Amount (in lakhs of Taka) Bangladesh Railway is losing in revenue a day amidst the ongoing blockade which began on January 6.

Run for Life

Sanaa, Yemen. A Yemeni boy runs away from the area of fighting near the presidential palace in Sanaa, during clashes between the presidential guard and members of the Shiite Huthi movement.

Cheer for the Cup

Mongomo, Equatorial Guinea. Ghana's supporters cheer for their team during the 2015 African Cup of Nations group C football match between Ghana and Senegal in Mongomo.

Hrant's Eyes

Istanbul, Turkey. People hold a picture showing slain journalist Hrant Dink's eyes in front of Armenian newspaper "Agos" during a commemoration ceremony for Dink in Istanbul, Turkey.

