Date: 27-29 March
Venue: Nawab Ali Chowdhury Senate Bhaban, University Of Dhaka, Dhaka
The conference scheduled for 27-29 March, 2015 is being organised against the backdrop of renewed conversations amongst the various stakeholders relating to women's inadequate access to, and use of socio economic inputs for empowerment.
The Department of Women and Gender Studies (DWGS) had planned this conference so that there emerges a collective voice contributing to the ongoing discussions, intent on framing guideline for gender equality. Based on an understanding of the present priorities the conference is intended to serve as a platform for scholars and activists for sharing their views informed by their experiences in research and activism in their respective counties and/or regions with respect to gender, diversity and development.

SUNDAY MOVIE NIGHT

Date: Sunday, 29 March

Time: 6pm
Venue: Goethe-Institut Bangladesh, House 10, Road 9(New), Dhanmondi R/A Every last Sunday of the month Goethe Institute shows independent and experimental films as well as documentaries from Germany. The films are screened with English subtitles. This week's pick is: Kebab Connection, directed by Anno Saul (2004, 96 min).

Ibo is an aspiring filmmaker of Turkish descent living in the German city of Hamburg, who makes commercials for his uncle's kebab restaurant. A clash of cultures and pre-parental anxiety ensues after Ibo's German girlfriend announces that she's pregnant. Ibo makes attempts at getting it right, but as the birth approaches, he's still not ready. In the background is a feud between the kebab joint and a Greek taverna across the street.
