Five lawyers of war crimes convict on death row Muhammad Kamaruzzaman will meet him in Dhaka Central Jail today at 10:30am for instructions on his petition seeking a review of the Supreme Court verdict upholding the death penalty. If there is any "strategic instruction", they will inform it to Kamaruzzaman's senior counsel Khandker Mahbub Hossain who will place arguments before the Supreme Court's Appellate Division tomorrow, one of the five, Shishir Manir, told The Daily Star.

International Crimes Tribunal-2 sentenced the Jamaat-e-Islami leader to death on May 9, 2013 for crimes against humanity during the 1971 Liberation War. Kamaruzzaman submitted his appeal at the SC on June 6, 2013 challenging the judgment. The SC upheld it on November 3, 2014. The tribunal issued the death warrant on February 19 and the prison authorities read it out to him that day. He then filed the review petition on March 5. The four other lawyers are Ehsan Abdullah Siddiq, Moshul Alam, Motiur Rahman Akand and Muzahedul Islam Shahin.

DEATHS FROM 'FOOD POISONING' Medical team collects samples

A three-member medical team from the Institute of Epidemiology Disease Control and Research (IEDCR) under the health directorate yesterday visited Badamia village in Mymensingh where three children and a woman died of "food poisoning" after taking breakfast on Thursday. Eight people, including the four, fell sick after having homemade flour bread with sweet potato at the house of their relative, Kalu Mian, in Trishal upazila. Dr Ahmed Raihan Sharif, who is leading the team, said they talked to the victim families and locals, and also collected the bread, flour, sweet potato and some cooked fish from the spot for examination. They also visited the four women, who had survived, at Mymensingh Medical College Hospital. Their conditions are improving, said hospital sources. Earlier, a medical team led by district Civil Surgeon Dr AKM Mustafa Kamal collected samples to send to the Institute of Public Health's laboratory in Dhaka today.

Repeated flaws in JU

Mandal said six students were ready to travel to the UK, Canada, Japan, Russia, and China for higher studies but the mismatches might lead to cancellation of their admissions. "We are facing the same problem in our career, as the results we submitted do not match the results written on the provisional certificates (provided after the results were republished)," he added. A three-member review committee was formed on February 12 to evaluate the republished results and asked to submit a report in the next 15 days but it is yet to come. Head of the committee, Prof Amir Hossain, said their work was done, and the final results might be published in a week. The students, however, demanded that their first results be retained because based on those they have applied for jobs and higher studies, and any mismatch will put them in trouble. They also threatened to besiege the administrative office on April 8 if the results were not published by April 7. Registrar Prof Abu Bakar Siddique said punitive measures would be taken against the persons responsible on the basis of the review committee's report.

Huge quantity of hilsa fries seized

STAR REPORT
Law enforcers seized over 1,250 kilogrammes of hilsa, both fry and adult, in Chandpur, distributed those among orphans and the poor and arrested four persons yesterday, the third day of a jatka (hilsa fry) conservation week. A programme in the district marking the week will be organised today, scheduled to be attended by the fisheries and livestock minister and secretary, department of fisheries director general and other top officials, reports a correspondent. Fishing jatka, less than around 23 centimetres or nine inches, is banned for eight months, from November 1 to June 30, coming into effect for the last couple of years to boost production of Bangladesh's national fish. But except the conservation week, markets are generally flooded with jatka due to poor law enforcement. Around 250 kilogrammes of yesterday's seizure was made from a launch, MV Zahid, in the Meghna river by Bangladesh Coast Guard acting on a tip-off. Some other fish species were auctioned off. The remaining, caught from Haimchar area, was seized from a covered van heading towards Dhaka after locals stopped it at Alonia village and informed police. The arrestees are Kausar, the driver, Anwar, Zahangir and Babul.

Dhaka has no knowledge of Bangladeshi joining IS

STAFF CORRESPONDENT
Dhaka has no knowledge of a Military Institute of Science and Technology student allegedly joining Islamic State after crossing into Syria from Turkey after departing on February 21 without informing his family to, as he claimed, attend a conference. "The foreign ministry does not have any such information," State Minister Md Shahriar Alam told The Daily Star yesterday. Media reports quoting a foreign ministry letter say Ashequr Rahman was supposed to return on February 27 but disappeared. Two top officials of Detective Branch of Dhaka Metropolitan Police said they believe Ashequr had indeed joined IS.
