

GUARDIANS OF THE GALAXY 2'

to start shooting in February 2016

James Gunn has shared updates on the sequel to his Marvel movie "Guardians of the Galaxy". During a question and answer on Periscope, the director reveals that he has submitted draft for "Guardians of the Galaxy 2" and eyes an early 2016 start date, reported Ace Showbiz. "I turned in my treatment. I'm going in to meet about it Friday and we will start working on the screenplay next week," Gunn said. He plans to start filming the second movie in February 2016 at Pinewood Atlanta Studios for May 5, 2017 release. Chris Pratt, Zoe Saldana, Dave Bautista, Vin Diesel, and Bradley Cooper are expected to return as the band of misfits in the cosmic side of Marvel Cinematic Universe. Karen Gillan is also set to reprise her role as Nebula. While continuing his work with Marvel, James Gunn is developing a passion project outside comic book. He writes and produces a movie called "The Belco Experiment" with Greg McLean ("Wolf Creek") as a director. Production will start in June, in Bogota, Columbia.

Deadpool won't be a typical comic book movie: Ryan Reynolds

Hollywood star Ryan Reynolds has revealed "Deadpool" won't be the typical comic book movie. The 38-year-old actor explained the much-anticipated movie will be shot on a small budget and has, therefore, told fans to expect something a little offbeat, reported Entertainment Weekly. "It's not like an X-Men movie where there's this gigantic budget. It's quite a small film. It's very difficult to weave that character into other comic movies. He knows he's in a comic book. "If he met Wolverine, he'd greet him as Hugh Jackman. It's tough to create a meta-universe within another universe that doesn't have any of those components," he said.

Patrick Schwarzenegger gets death threats from Miley's fans

Miley Cyrus' fans have sent death threats to her new boyfriend Patrick Schwarzenegger after he was spotted getting cozy with another female. Cyrus' fans sent thousands of hate tweets threatening to kill him and burn down his pizza shop, reported TMZ. "You better run for your life when you come to LA and I hope your pizza place burns down," a user wrote. Another wondered, "Who's going to kill Patrick for us?" "... Be ready for what's about to come," another user wrote punctuating the threat with a knife and emojis.

Sushmita

starrer 'Nirbaak' to be released this May

National-award winning director Srijit Mukherjee's upcoming film "Nirbaak", starring Sushmita Sen, is all set to release on May 1. "Nirbaak will be released on May 1. It is Sushmita's debut in Bengali cinema," Srijit said. "Nirbaak" is a hyperlink narrative comprising four love stories connected by a single woman, played by Sen. Every love story comprises one entity which is silent and thus Nirbaak (Speechless), Srijit explained. The film celebrates the kind of love which transcends human language, exploring the most celebrated human themes of love, lust, jealousy, affection and separation within the natural elements around us. "Nirbaak" also stars Jisshu Sengupta, Anjan Dutt and Ritwik Chakraborty.

