The thrust of my speech will look at the challenges and opportunities available to young graduates as part of the fast moving New Digital Age and how this is reshaping the future of People, Nations and Business. I shall discuss some of the top trends that will reshape the world by 2030 and how these trends will affect business and individuals. How we communicate and interact with others will be influenced and driven by the online world. It has been providing quality education, training and research facility to its students since its very inception. At present BUBT has established itself as a top ranking University in the Private Sector of the country.
