

"Senseless" on Maasranga Television

A CORRESPONDENT

Single episode TV play "Senseless" will go on air on Maasranga Television tonight at 7pm. Written and directed by Arif Rahman, the play revolves around a man devoid of feelings and humanly senses. His family does not care about him as he is above everything, but the man suddenly falls in love with his elder brother's fiancée.

The play casts Mosharraf Karim, Shayla and Kochi Khandaker in the lead roles.

Asif Azim, the Bangladeshi-born model of worldwide fame, was recently rated as one of the top 5 fittest supermodels in India. Born in Amjhupi, Meherpur, he has a post-graduate degree in Economics from Dhaka University, and had his first break in 2002 in a ramp rig for India's ace designer Sabyasachi Mukherjee. Later, he caught the eye of South African photographer, Neo Ntsoma, who was in town for a documentary photo-shoot. From those beginnings, Asif's career began, that takes him all across the world today on the most glamorous ramps. The Indian resident was in Dhaka recently, and made time for The Daily Star.

As a Bangladeshi, do you feel like an outsider in India?

Asif: When you are aware that you are an outsider, you have to do whatever it takes to gain their confidence. If you are an adopted child, you will work that extra bit hard to be a part of that family. I live in India, and it is now my home. Although I am a Bangladeshi national, the country has in fact become my second home. I visit here just for couple of days.

Any words of advice for Bangladeshi models?

Asif: Bangladeshi people are some of the most beautiful people on earth. To take modeling as a career, what is needed most is proper grooming. Poise and fitness too are important. Along with that, they should educate themselves properly so that they can learn the gravity of being a model on an international scale.

What brings you to Bangladesh this time?

Asif: One of the main reasons I am (was) in Bangladesh is to represent a new brand by Epyllion Group. This is a new fashion and lifestyle brand that has recently been launched to bring the latest fashion trends, casual and high quality outfits to people. The outfits range from western, ethnic to fusion wear. The theme of the brand is "Sailing through life" and is intended to inspire people to be ready for any challenge. The export quality fabrics and trend-setting cuts of the outfits are likely to win the hearts of fashionistas.

IT'S TRUE!

Pop icon Jennifer Lopez got married to singer Marc Anthony in June 2004 in a secret ceremony in her Los Angeles mansion, after just four months of courtship following her failed relationship with actor Ben Affleck. On their first anniversary, Marc Anthony bought J-Lo a $1 million diamond engagement ring, because they had never really got engaged.

Avengers scripts destroyed daily to prevent leaks

The cast of the new "Avengers" film say pages of the script had to be shredded every day on set to stop details of the new movie leaking.

Speaking at the "Age of Ultron" UK premiere, Elizabeth Olsen, who plays new character Scarlet Witch, said security was strict to prevent hacks.

Paul Bettany, who evolves from voicing Jarvis to becoming The Vision, said the script was never emailed to him, but was posted "with a security guard".

Elizabeth Olsen added: "It was quite funny that we had to burn our sides for the day... we weren't allowed to go home with our little pages of whatever we shot that day. They took it from our trailers and shredded it. It's pretty crazy."

Chris Evans, who plays Captain America, told Newsbeat that most Marvel films are kept secret. "Everything with Marvel is very lock and key and hush hush, you gotta sign a confidentiality agreement."
