

Classes of JU environ dept not convening for 28 days

Over row centring move to new building

JU CORRESPONDENT
All academic activities at the environmental sciences department of Jahangirnagar University has been halted for about a month as the authorities concerned have failed to resolve the ongoing crisis regarding transfer of the department to a new building.

Meanwhile, the probe team formed to investigate the situation has failed to submit any report although the deadline to do so has passed.

The students of the department held a protest rally on the campus yesterday pressing home their demand.

The department has been demonstrating since the beginning of the month demanding the transfer. However, they faced resistance from two other departments - computer science and engineering and geological sciences - already housed in the building.

Like elsewhere in the capital, a canopy of campaign posters covers the road in Azimpur on the eve of the much-awaited city corporation vote in Dhaka today. The number of posters saw an exponential increase yesterday, as the deadline for the official campaigning, particularly through loudspeakers, was passed the day before.

Govt issues public safety guidelines for earthquakes

UNB, Dhaka

Amid frequent tremors in the last couple of days, the government yesterday issued a 12-point guideline to protect people's lives and property in earthquakes.

The government advised people not to panic if an earthquake hits and take shelter beneath a table, desk or any hard furniture after covering the head with a pillow. People must switch off the gas stove and stay away from the kitchen. School students must take shelter beneath hard furniture keeping their schoolbag on their heads. If a person is outside then he or she must stay in an open place away from electric poles, high rises and trees. It advised people in factories, hospitals, shopping malls and cinema halls not to crowd entry and exit points. Rather, they should stay where they are covering their heads with hands. People living in high rises should avoid lifts during an earthquake and all must keep a radio, torchlight and first aid kits at their homes or offices. Finally, the government urged all to build houses following building codes.

Daylong load shedding scourging Savar, Ashulia

Residents suffering for a year, small industries in losses

RASHAD AHAMAD, Savar

The residents of Savar and Ashulia, outside the capital, have been plagued by daylong power cuts every week for more than a year due to the prevailing power system development work in the areas.

Small industries, including boutique houses, shoe factories and packaging factories, which developed in these industrial areas, are also incurring losses and losing targets of production as frequent power outages decrease productivity, increase cost of production.

Every week for at least a day, sometimes even for two days or more, the power supply remains off from 9:00am to 5:00pm which causes immense suffering to the residents and disrupts their daily activities.

Sadia Afrin, a resident of Bhadail village in Ashulia, said, "Due to the daylong power outages I face an acute water crisis, and foods that I store in the refrigerator get rotten."

A number of residents of other areas, including Bank Colony, Talbagh, Genda and Savar, also made the same complaint and said that the situation arose more than a year ago.

At the beginning the authority used to announce before they cut off the power supply through loudspeakers but later gradually they stopped announcing, they alleged.

Rashedul Islam, an officer of Administration, Human Resources and Complaints of Zihan Knit Composite Ltd, a small garment factory at Talbagh, said due to power cuts the small entrepreneurs like them face serious problems as they have to depend on a diesel-run generator which is very expensive.

They need 22 litres of diesel per hour to run only 100 machines and each litre costs them TK 68, he said.

Due to daylong power cuts they have to count an additional TK 10,000 for production per day, he said, adding that to reduce the cost sometimes they keep their factories shut before the usual time.

He urged the authorities concerned to take immediate measures to ensure a smooth power supply without further delay.

Contacted, Sayed Wahidul Islam, senior general manager of Dhaka Palli Bidyut Samity-3, said Savar is one of the oldest areas under Palli Bidyut Samity. Though they generate enough electricity, they cannot provide it due to poor and old power cables, he added.

"Now we are upgrading the power supply line from Low Tension (LT) to High Tension (HT)," he added.

When asked about the sluggish progress of work, he said it is a lengthy process and to speed up the work, they need more manpower and equipment which they are lacking now.

However, he said if the work progresses at the current pace they might need around two more months to complete the upgradation work.
