Varendra Research Museum exhibits centuries-old artefacts

Bss, Rajshahi
Varendra Research Museum, the first museum established in erstwhile East Bengal in 1910, is a popular tourist attraction. The museum, located at the heart of the metropolis and maintained by Rajshahi University, houses monuments that have defied the ravages of man and nature. The centuries-old artefacts showcased at the museum present the glorious past of Bengal in general and of Varendra in particular. The museum originated from Varendra Research Society, which was established by Saratkumar Ray and two of his close associates -- Akshay Kumar Maitreya and Ramaprasad Chanda. Saratkumar led an exploratory tour accompanied by AK Maitreya, Rakhaldas Bandyopadhyay and a few others to Deopara, Palpara, Malancha, Jugpur, Itahar, Chhabishnagar, Mandoil, Kumarpur, Khetur and Vijaynagar in early April 1910. The party was able to collect 32 pieces of sculptures, including the life-size images of Chandī from Mandoil. Out of necessity of preserving the collections, Rajshahi Museum (later Varendra Research Museum) was established. Akshay Kumar constructed the museum building with his own money on the land donated by his elder brother Raja Pramada Nath Ray of
