

DYEING HAIR HELPS EVA GREEN GET INTO CHARACTER

Actress Eva Green felt like she could "breathe" when she dyed her hair at the age of 15. The "Casino Royale" star has confessed she felt compelled to colour her hair "blue-black" as a youngster after being inspired by a "weird" friend of her mother Marlene and has stuck by the decision into her adult life as it makes her feel "more like (herself)". "I wanted to change something. You know, like when you go through your teenage years. I hated school. I was a good student, but I just wanted to breathe in something new," femalefirst.co.uk quoted Green as saying. The 34-year-old added that hairstyling has become extremely helpful to her when it comes to getting into character on set.

MATTHEW MCCONAUGHEY IN TALKS FOR 'SPIDER-MAN' REBOOT?

Actor Matthew McConaughey is reportedly targeted by Marvel Comics to play the villain, Norman Osborn aka Green Goblin, in the upcoming rebooted 'Spider-Man' franchise. According to Point of Geeks website, the 45-year-old is in "basic talks" with the studio, reports aceshowbiz.com McConaughey previously confirmed he had been eyed by both Marvel and Warner Bros to star in superhero movies. "I've read some Marvel and DC scripts and I've talked about working with them on some scripts, none of which I'll share with you what they are - or were. Yeah, I've circled some of those. Nothing has been right for me yet. But I'm sure open to it," he said. According to the website, it's not surprising for Marvel to target such an A-list actor as Norman Osborn character's overall prominence in the comics has risen over the past decade. 'Spider-Man' reboot is scheduled for a 2017 release. Previously, Asa Butterfield, Nat Wolff, Tom Holland, Timothee Chalamet and Liam James were reportedly some of the candidates to take the role of Peter Parker.

Sylvester Stallone and Salman Khan together in a movie

Salman Khan had told his fans to follow his hero Sylvester Stallone on Twitter earlier in the day. The admiration it seems is mutual. Hollywood action superhero Stallone took to Twitter and sent a 'Thank You' right back at Salman. He also mentioned that they should do an action movie together. Check out what he wrote: "Would like to thank the super talented Indian superstar Salman Khan the Compliment he Tweeted! We should do an ACTION FILM together!" So, is Salman Khan joining the next Expendables movie? Or is Sly coming to Bollywood? If the latter happens the film is definitely going to break all records across the country!

