

Proteas touch down in the afternoon

SPORTS REPORTER

A 25-member South Africa contingent landed at the Hazrat Shahjalal International Airport at 5:30 pm yesterday afternoon. The group included a 14-member T20 squad and eleven staff members.

The arrival however took place amidst a slight confusion. The BCB had earlier been informed that the team would land in the morning. It was later learnt that the South Africans had in fact booked a different flight. The confusion was a result of a miscommunication between the two boards.

The visitors will face Bangladesh in two T20Is, three ODIs and two Tests. The tour will kick start with two T20Is scheduled to take place on July 5 and 7.

The Proteas will attend their first practice session tomorrow afternoon at the National Cricket Academy Ground in Mirpur. After two days of practice, the visitors will take on a BCB XI in a 20-over practice match at the Khan Shaheb Osman Ali Stadium in Fatullah on July 3.

This is South Africa's first series ever since their painful semifinal exit in the World Cup in March this year. Prior to their arrival in Dhaka, T20 captain Faf du Plessis hoped that the youngsters who joined the squad after the mega event, would prove their point on this tour.

"This is exciting; it's nice to have young guys coming in. It's almost like the younger the guys are, the more energy they bring to the squad," du Plessis said.

The two teams have never played a T20I in Bangladesh. They did face off twice in this format in 2007 and 2008 in South Africa, and the Proteas won on both occasions.

The three ODIs will take place on July 10, 12 and 15. While the first two are scheduled to take place in Mirpur, the final ODI will be played at the Zahur Ahmed Chowdhury Stadium in Chittagong.

The two-match Test series will begin after Eid, with Hashim Amla and Mushfiquir Rahim taking over their respective sides. The first Test will take place in Chittagong while the second and final Test will be played in Mirpur.

Bangladesh's T20I team will be submitted to the board today evening. It was learnt that the selection committee had pondered quite a bit with regards to their spin options.

The names of Shohag Gazi and Jubair Hossain, who played yesterday's practice match, were reportedly discussed.

Having beaten Pakistan and India already this year, the Tigers are on a roll. They have the fourth best winning percentage in 2015 and will hope to continue their good run. However, they will have to battle hard since World Cup semifinalists South Africa have a dominant record against the Tigers.

In the ODIs, South Africa have won 13 out of the 14 encounters between the two sides. In Tests, the Proteas have won all eight encounters -- seven of which were innings victories.

Rosh Alo's Dig Indian media find no fun

STAR SPORT DESK

After Bangladeshi newspaper Prothom Alo's weekly publication 'Rosh Alo' published a picture of Mustafizur Rahman and some members of the Indian cricket team, the Press Trust of India reacted furiously with an article on the Bangla daily's attempt at humour. The report, which was carried by different Indian newspapers, is as follows:

Showing utter disrespect towards the Indian cricket team, a Bangladeshi newspaper has produced a fake 'cutter' advertisement, in which seven Indian cricketers are seen standing with their heads half-shaven.

Young Bangladeshi pacesman Mustafizur Rahman, who tormented the Indian players in the ODI series, is shown endorsing a cutter -- symbolising his 'off-cutters' -- and the Indian players are holding a banner which reads, 'We have used it. You can use it too'.

India lost the three-match series 1-2 to give the hosts a historic bilateral series victory.

'I feel very happy for Rahane'

PTI, New Delhi

Legendary Indian batsman Sachin Tendulkar on Tuesday, extended his greetings to new captain Ajinkya Rahane as Rahane became the first cricketer from Mumbai in 15 years to be handed the reins of the team since Tendulkar.

The selectors announced a second-string team for the tour, resting most of the senior players such as Mahendra Singh Dhoni and Virat Kohli.

"I feel very happy for Ajinkya. He is a sincere and hard working cricketer. I have always been impressed with his commitment and dedication. I am sure he will give his best and give us a reason to be proud of him. I wish him all the best," Tendulkar told PTI.

Tigers receive ICC plaudits

SPORTS REPORTER

The impressive performances from the Tigers recently have earned them praise from the game's governing body, revealed BCB CEO Nizamuddin Chowdhury, while adding that the BCB was hopeful of the positive impact it would have on Bangladesh's cricket.

"They [ICC] are really happy. The ICC has congratulated us and you will see a future effect as well. We are also discussing with some member countries regarding other levels of cricket," said Chowdhury, who returned home yesterday after attending the International Cricket Council's (ICC's) annual conference in Barbados.

Since the last World Cup, the Bangladesh team under the leadership of Mashrafe Bin Mortaza has been playing a good brand of cricket in the ODI format and their success against Pakistan and India took them to new heights.

The 2-1 series win against India had confirmed Bangladesh's qualification for the 2017 ICC Champions Trophy to be held in England, but a proposed tri-series involving Pakistan, West Indies and Zimbabwe put their berth at risk. But Chowdhury found no reason to be scared of the Tigers' qualification prospects.

"I think that according to the current scenario, the chances for any other team to climb up [the rankings] are very slim. Because we are ranked seven, we are hopeful of playing the trophy unless something big happens. Pakistan and West Indies are ranked below us at the moment so matches between those sides will have an effect on our ranking, but as the difference between ranks 7 and 8 is around five points, we think that their chances are very slim," explained Chowdhury.

Bangladesh opener Tamim Iqbal scored 52 runs off 30 balls in the T20 practice match at Mirpur yesterday, but the Shakib Al Hasan-led team fell short of their revised target.

Entertaining practice

SPORTS REPORTER

'It's one each,' a smiling Mashrafe Bin Mortaza blurted while shaking hands with his opposing captain Shakib Al Hasan at the end of the T20 practice match yesterday in Mirpur. The ODI skipper's jubilation though wasn't because of a series-levelling performance from his side.

In fact, Mashrafe's team, which included the likes of Mushfiquir Rahim, Rubel Hossain, Soumya Sarkar and a number of other national players, were restricted to just 137 in 20 overs.

In reply, a fierce half-century stand between openers Tamim Iqbal and Anamul Haque helped Shakib's side gobbled three-fourth of the target halfway through. That's when the team management decided to put some extra pressure on the team batting second. With roughly eight overs remaining, the target was changed to 196.

That's when Shakib, who batted at number three, started unleashing his slog sweeps in a bid to chase down the new target. However, he fell to Sabbir Rahman, after smacking the latter for two huge boundaries in the same over. After that, they crumbled and eventually fell a few runs short of their target.

And so while coming off the field Mashrafe, in his usual energetic demeanour, yelled, "Coach! It's 1-1. They might have reached their first target, but they failed to reach the second."

It may have been just a practice match, but the way the two teams -- a mix of the national players and members of the high performance unit -- formed lines and shook hands at the end of the match, depicted a sense of discipline only seen during official games.

The entire match too was played with a competitive spirit. Every player on the field tried their best to give it their all. Tamim, for one, was in a menacing mood. He wasn't going to let Arafat Sunny, who had a bad last game against India, settle in as he went after him with consecutive boundaries. One of which was an eye-catching straight drive for a six.

Mashrafe too was driven to all corners of the park. Tamim had taken him for three consecutive boundaries in the third over. His partner Anamul enjoyed himself as well, reverse-sweeping his way to glory.

A couple of different strategies were employed by the teams. Mashrafe for instance, preferred to open the innings with off-spinner Shohag Gazi, who hasn't played an international game for close to a year. The team management is hunting for an off-spinner for the series and it was perhaps Mashrafe's way of finding out more about the off-spinner.

In the same vein, Shakib gave leg-spinner Jubair Hossain a number of overs in the first innings. Mushfiquir Rahim, seemed adamant about returning to wicketkeeping as he kept throughout the second innings of the game.

Athletes top rich list

SPORTS REPORTER

Forbes magazine has made a list of the highest paid celebrities in the world. While movie stars and singers are littered throughout the list, athletes also make up a large portion of the list, including the top two spots.

Floyd 'Money' Mayweather is on top of the list with 300 million dollars in earnings last year, while Manny Pacquiao takes the second spot with 160 million dollars.

Singer Katy Perry, who also featured on the cover, is third with $135M.

Ballon d'Or holder claims the 10th spot, with rival Lionel Messi three places behind him.

Roger Federer's $67M see him secure the 16th spot, with his competitors Novak Djokovic (42) and Rafael Nadal (76) a long way behind him. Maria Sharapova is the only female tennis player in the list, ranking 88th.

Golfer Phil Mickleson (36) is followed by Tiger Woods, who just edges out Jackie Chan.

Hamilton and Ibrahimovic are tied for 55th, but that tie is outdone by the tie for the 82nd position, where Brazilian phenom Neymar is tied with Indian ODI skipper Mahendra Singh Dhoni.

Mash shuts Facebook account

SPORTS REPORTER

Bangladesh's limited-over skipper Mashrafe Bin Mortaza has deactivated his Facebook account in the aftermath of his teammate Nasir Hossain's fallout with the community.

Nasir was attacked on Facebook by vulgar and reprehensible comments after he posted a picture with his sister, and this irked Mashrafe to the point of protesting by closing his account.

"I closed my fan page only for Nasir," said Mashrafe.

"I wanted to stand by Nasir and protest against the incident, so this is my way of protesting.

"If this is the kind of response we get from our followers, then I don't need an account," continued Mashrafe. "I don't want this kind of experience."

SL fined

AFP, Colombo

Sri Lanka have been fined for maintaining a slow over-rate during the second Test against Pakistan in Colombo, the International Cricket Council (ICC) said on Tuesday.

ICC match referee Chris Broad of England imposed the fines after the hosts were found to be one over short of the target during the Test which they won by seven wickets on Monday.

Skipper Angelo Mathews was fined 20 percent of his undisclosed match fees and the rest of the team 10 percent according to regulations governing Test cricket, the ICC said in a statement.

"Mathews pleaded guilty to the offence and accepted the proposed sanction, so there was no need for a formal hearing," Broad was quoted as saying in the statement.

Sri Lanka won the match at the P. Sara Oval by seven wickets to level the three-match series after Pakistan had won the first Test in Galle by 10 wickets.

The third and decisive Test starts inallekele on Friday.

Sinka sets new chess mark

After decades spent playing simultaneous chess, an 87-year-old Hungarian pensioner clinched a world record Sunday by finally overtaking a total set by 1920s Cuban Grand Master Jose Raul Capablanca, before calling it a day.

Almost 60 years since her first simultaneous games at a Chess Olympiad in 1957, Brigitta Sinka overtook the magic 13,545 number attributed to Capablanca, one of the world's best-ever players.

"I wanted to stop for a moment so everyone could reflect in memory of Capablanca," Sinka told AFP.

"There were so many people waiting for me to move my pieces however, so I simply carried on," she added.

Big windfall for hosts

AFP, Sydney

The cricket World Cup co-hosted by Australia and New Zealand this year was the most popular ever and generated 1.1 billion Australian dollars in economic benefits, an official analysis showed Tuesday.

Fourteen teams played in the hugely successful tournament in February and March, with Australia winning a fifth world crown after beating New Zealand by seven wickets in front of a record crowd of 93,013 at the Melbourne Cricket Ground.

An economic impact and benefits analysis by PricewaterhouseCoopers showed the event generated more than 1.1 billion dollars in direct spending and created 8,320 full-time jobs.

More than one million fans attended games, with 145,000 international visitors, mostly from Asia, with wide media coverage around the world.

Cricket World Cup 2015 chief executive John Harnden said the direct spending converted into an increase in gross domestic product of 460 million dollars across the two countries.

"This was the biggest event in Australia since the Sydney Olympics in 2000 and it has changed cricket in New Zealand forever," he said, adding that hotels in the two countries benefited from two million bed nights -- a measure of occupancy representing one bed for one night.

Harden said saturation coverage on television and other digital platforms from the 14 host cities "not only showcased the best of Australia and New Zealand but has enhanced the tournament's reputation as a major global driver for economic and community benefit".

International Cricket Council chief David Richardson hailed the tournament as an outstanding success that "proved that cricket was not only popular across both countries but a significant contributor to the local economies".

"The ICC cricket World Cup 2015 was the most popular ever played," he said.

The tournament saw 49 matches, of which 20 were sold out, played over 44 days.
