

Steak House moves to new location

As you enter the new premises of Steak House - Restaurant and Lounge, the first thing that will strike you is how spacious it is.

With quite a lot of space around the building, the indoor area itself is also rather big. Walking through the doors, the large reception area, with its fountain and vases and overall furnishing, provides an element of sophistication.

The eatery is divided into a few sections. The lounge, for example, provides a very cosy atmosphere and a very comfortable seating arrangement. There is also a section for fine diners. The sitting area outside has a nice backyard, with trees and creepers all around. It is a perfect setting for holding barbeque parties.

And indeed, Steak House

is a popular venue for corporate events, parties, et al.

The wider capacity is not the only thing Steak House has improved upon. With its new premises, the menu has also seen a few additions. Sushi is one example. This Japanese delicacy, with its side-kick wasabi, has become very popular in Dhaka in the last few years. Steak House's menu now includes some oriental dishes.

Despite that, Steak House has kept its original menu quite intact. After all, it has been a hit among the guests, and the eatery has a loyal customer base.

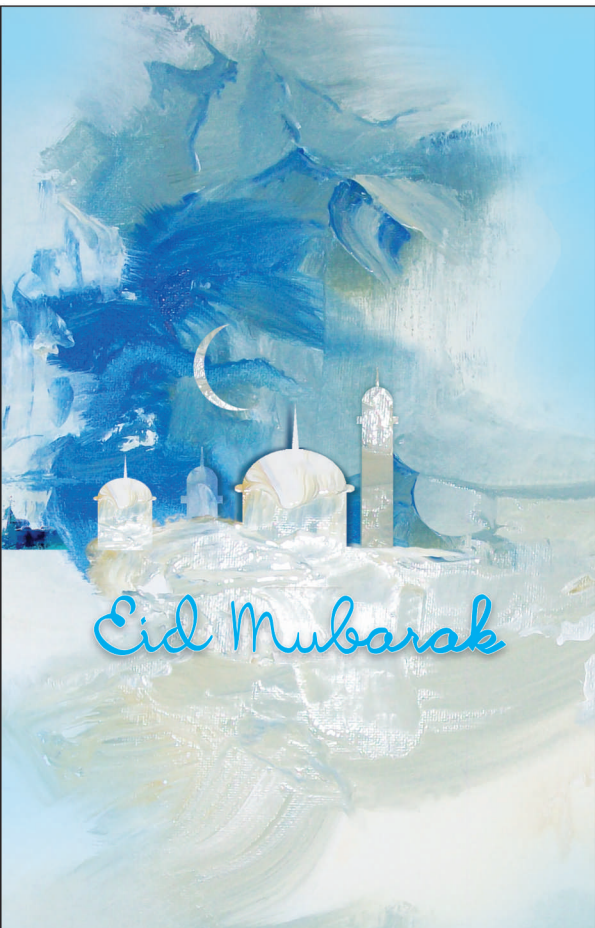

Try out their lasagne for a delightful Italian treat. Lobsters, an extravagant affair, are also a must tryout. And obviously, there are the steaks.

There are not many places in Dhaka where steak can be cooked to perfection – just the way you want it, be it medium rare or well done. The waiter himself would surely ask you how you like your steak.

Or, you might also opt for a buffet, which is offered every Thursday and Friday.

So visit Steak House in its new premises. With the even more elegant décor and new additions to the menu (along with the classics), it is place worth trying out.

I am 21, female and suffering from a disease named Hirsutism. I have manly hair growth on face and body which is gradually increasing with time. I need to do threading on face almost everyday. Can LASER treatment remove the unwanted hair from my face & body permanently?

-Ms. DR, Banani

Dear Ms. DR, Yes, LASER HAIR REMOVAL can reduce the hair permanently in each session. In our clinic, we are doing this treatment successfully for face & body with Long Pulse Nd YAG Laser for more than 11 years. This particular type of laser is virtually painless & superior to the other lasers and very much suitable for the skin of South Asian people which is approved by the USA FDA. When a session is done, it selects the melanin of the hair shaft & the hair follicle and uproot them. With each session, you will see significant reduction of hair number & density.

90 percent of the unwanted hair is destroyed permanently usually within 6 sessions. But in case of underlying hormonal problem more sessions may be required. Hormonal treatment is advised if any problem detected after Hormone Analysis. The remaining 10 percent hairs become very thin, fine & soft which are virtually invisible. Time period between sittings depends on the hair re-growth. Average interval is around one month.

As you are detected earlier as a "Hirsute", we need to continue the hormonal treatment and weight management for you complete result. You are most welcome if you are planning for effective solution from us. Take care.
