

KIBRIA MURDER CASE Charge framing deferred 6th time

UNB, Sylhet

A Sylhet tribunal yesterday deferred until August 18 the charge framing in the former Finance Minister SAMS Kibria murder case.

With this, charge framing in the sensational case has been deferred for the sixth time.

Sylhet City Corporation's suspended mayor Ariful Haq was not present in the court yesterday while former state minister for home Lutfozzaman Babar and other accused were present.

Five people, including Kibria, were killed and 70 others injured in a grenade attack on a public meeting of local Awami League at Baiddar Bazar in Sadar upazila on January 27, 2005.

Awami League leader Abdul Mazid Khan filed two cases the following day.

Assistant Superintendent of CID Munshi Atique submitted a charge sheet against 10 BNP leaders and activists on March 19, 2005.

On June 20, 2011, CID Senior Assistant Superintendent Rafiqul Islam submitted a supplementary charge sheet incorporating the names of 14 more people, including Babar and Mufi Hannan, following a no-confidence petition filed by the complainant. Upon an appeal by the complainant, the High Court on May 5, 2006 stayed the proceedings of the cases. Following another appeal by the complainant, the tribunal on May 14, 2006 ordered further investigation into the cases.

However, Asma Kibria, wife of the slain minister, filed another petition with a local court expressing no-confidence in the investigation. Later, the tribunal on January 5, 2012 ordered the CID to carry out further probe into the killing.

Hoping for justice, Nurul Alam, father of 13-year-old Rakib who was killed after air was pumped into his body through the rectum, hugs the investigation officer after he produced main accused in the murder case, Sharif and Mintu, before a Khulna court yesterday.

Buet computer dept develops model to check question paper leak

DU CORRESPONDENT

The computer science and engineering (CSE) department of Buet yesterday proposed a model framework to prevent question leakage in public exams.

Through a power point presentation, Prof Dr Md Mostofa Akbar of the department presented the model "Secured, Monitored, Automated, Real Time (SMART) Printing Solution" at a conference on "Initiative of Digital question system to prevent question linkage in public exams and the reality" at Buet. The questions would be auto-generated three hours before start of the exam and printed two hours before, so there would be little time for leakage, he said.

Use of CCTV cameras and face detection based authentication can be used to identify culprits behind question leakage, he added.

Verdict on Janakantha editor Thursday

Justice Hasan Foez Siddique.

The apex court issued the rule on July 29 against Janakantha Editor and Publisher Atiqullah Khan Masud and Executive Editor Swadesh Roy for publishing an article on July 16 under the headline, "Saka Paribarer Totporota! Palabar Path Kome Gecche (Lobbying by Salauddin Quader's family! Escape route getting narrowed)", written by Swadesh Roy.

During yesterday's hearing, the SC said the media could not publish such a report and article that could influence the court or any verdict.

It said the July 16 article had hurt the dignity and image of the entire judiciary since it had scandalised the judges of the highest court.

The court said a series of articles were published by the daily in the last three or four days which were also contemptuous.

It said the conversations between two of its judges about constituting a bench for hearing a war crimes case was an internal matter of the judiciary, and nobody could record the conversations and the media could not publish it.

Only the chief justice has the constitutional authority to constitute the bench determining the jurisdiction of a judge to hear and dispose of a case, the SC said, adding that a particular judge could not be given rights to hear all war crimes cases.

Several judges meet the chief justice every day on different issues, but if their conversations are recorded and published the judiciary cannot function, the court said.

Salahuddin Dolon, lawyer for Atiqullah and Swadesh, told the court that the July 16 article was published on the basis of truth and in good faith, and there was no intention to malign the judiciary.

Saying that there was nothing contemptuous in the article, he prayed to the SC to exempt his clients from the charge.

Attorney General Mahbubey Alam told the court that the article was contemptuous as it had hurt the judiciary's dignity.

It was published in order to make the war crimes trial controversial, he argued.

Atiqullah and Swadesh appeared at the SC yesterday and have to appear again on Thursday during delivery of the verdict, Mahbubey Alam told The Daily Star.

A number of journalist leaders were present in the courtroom during the proceedings.

IGP draws flak over remarks

They were going on in the country due to the culture of impunity.

"If the law enforcement agencies don't carry out their ethical responsibilities properly, there will be no results," she added.

Rasheda suggested that the government monitor how moral degradation engulfed the society to stop recurrence of child killing and abuse.

Professor Emeritus Anisuzzaman said the recent barbaric killing of children reflected cruelty and aggressiveness of the nation which once had the goodwill to be peace-loving.

He said, "The way of torture, cruelty and inhumanity some people have shown leaves us with one question - where are we heading?" "We should all stand together to save the society," he added.

Pointing out the killing of bloggers, he said Bangladesh was gradually heading towards narrow-mindedness. "The liberal environment that we have been expecting since the birth of Bangladesh could not be established," he added.

"Right now the country is going through a huge humanitarian crisis," said Selina Hossain, chairman of Shishu Academy. "Police alone can't solve it; civil society should stand up."

National Human Rights Commission Chairman (NHRC) Dr Mizanur Rahman said the country was seeing social unrest. "Unrest reaches a stage that we are losing our temper within moments," he said.

Terming the killings of children as isolated incidents, Assistant Inspector General of Police Rokhfah Sultana Khanam said, "Police have the mentality to correct their mistakes."

Psychologist Dr Mehtab Khanam said, "I don't think we have been able to create a child-friendly society."

Among others, social scientist Mahbuba Nasrin and Director of Bangladesh Shishu Odhikar Forum Abdus Shahid Mahmud also spoke the programme, moderated by Prothom Alo Associate Editor Abdul Quayyum.
