

Gazipur City Mayor Mannan suspended

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Gazipur

Gazipur City Corporation Mayor MA Mannan has been suspended for being charged with criminal offences.

GCC received the suspension order signed by LGRD ministry Assistant Secretary AKM Anisuzzaman yesterday, said the city corporation Assistant Secretary Nezamul Haque.

Mannan was suspended after a Gazipur court accepted a charge sheet against him in a case filed with Joydevpur Police Station for an arson attack on a passenger bus in the city on February 4, said Nezamul citing the order.

The suspension has been made as per the Local Government (City Corporation) Act-2009, the circular stated.

Mannan, also an adviser of BNP Chairperson Khaleda Zia, was arrested in his Baridhara residence on February 11.

Awami League leader and GCC panel mayor Asadur Rahman Kiron has been the acting mayor since the arrest.

Govt high-ups for restorative justice to curb crime

They speak at two-day GIZ, DFID conference

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Government high-ups yesterday underscored the need for restorative justice, saying it would reduce crime, backlog of cases and overcrowding in prisons, save energy, money and time and bring peace and harmony to society.

Restorative justice is a mediation session under a trained facilitator between the accused and victim to provide reparation that can be agreed upon in place of prosecution, to prevent recurrence of an offence and to rehabilitate the offender through reconciliation with victims and the community at large.

The officials were addressing the inauguration of a two-day international conference, "Restorative Justice: From Crime Prevention to Conflict Transformation" jointly organised by Deutsche Gesellschaft für Internationale Zusammenarbeit (GIZ) and Department for International Development (DFID) at Pan Pacific Sonargaon Hotel in the capital.

"If we can prevent crime, our streets, homes and workplaces will be safer," said Home Minister Asaduzzaman Khan Kamal.

He said research shows that there was little possibility for offenders to commit crimes again if they faced restorative justice. But, jailing increases chances of recurrence of a crime, he added.

According to the minister, 69,719 offenders are now crammed in prisons meant for 34,681 persons.

The home ministry, GIZ and DFID have been jointly implementing a project, "Improvement of the Real Situation of Overcrowding in Prisons in Bangladesh" since 2008.

In this regard, GIZ Bangladesh has initiated restorative justice at community-level arbitrations so that local problems can be solved using local and community solutions.

It also has decided to introduce restorative justice in specific cases like those concerning small scale physical

ASK worried over 'crossfire deaths' of errant pro-ruling party men

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Ain o Salish Kendra (ASK), a rights body, yesterday expressed deep concern over the deaths of three ruling party affiliated political activists in "crossfire" between their cohorts and law enforcement agencies early Tuesday and yesterday.

In a statement, ASK urged the government to take effective measures against all criminals, irrespective of their political affiliations, following due legal process.

Pointing out alleged involvement of the party activists in two incidents of gunfight and another incident of killing, ASK said, "In recent times, the government has faced a lot of criticism for the activities of ruling party affiliated student and youth organisations."

Baldha Garden Road nightmare for drivers

HELEML ALAM

The stretch of the road near Baldha Garden in Wari is not longer than 50 yards, but drivers are reluctant to use this small stretch due to its terrible condition.

The situation was made worse when authorities concerned, instead of carrying out repair works, covered up most of the potholes on the portion of the road with pieces of bricks. Moreover, the part of the road creates traffic congestion as vehicles are forced to move slowly on it.

Visiting the area this week, The Daily Star found one of the wheels of a truck stuck in one of the potholes not covered by bricks.

Nur Mohammad, helper of the truck, said the axle of the truck broke, leaving the vehicle stranded on the road. This inevitably caused traffic congestion.

Mohammad Mostafa, driver of a Dhaka-Narsingdi bus, said they regularly spend more than 30 minutes crossing this small part of the road due to its numerous potholes.

The condition of the road deteriorated rapidly in the last one month, he added.

Sudip Kumar, sub-assistant engineer of Dhaka South City Corporation, zone-5, said they have already submitted a proposal of Tk 23 crore project to the LGRD ministry about 10 days back to repair the road that stretches from Sayedabad to Joykali Mandir.

He said they would begin repair works after getting the go-ahead from the ministry.

Meanwhile, the city corporation spent Tk 72 crore to repair the dilapidated road under the Mayor Hanif flyover amid public outcry and sufferings during rainy season last year.

It also spent Tk 7 crore more for development of a drainage system to put an end to waterlogging on the road.

Although the entire sum had been paid to the contractors, the road remains in the same dreadful state.

Many potholes along with mud and waterlogging at different points have made the road a hazardous one following days of rain.

Jubo League leader shot on Tuesday dies in capital

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

A ward-level Jubo League leader, who was shot in the capital's Tikatuli on Tuesday, died at Apollo Hospitals yesterday evening.

Unidentified criminals shot Abdul Mannan, 32, general secretary of Jubo League of ward-31 in Dhaka Metropolitan unit (south), in front of his house while he was returning from his drug-store along with a friend, and fled on a motorbike.

Mannan also had worked as an informant for Rapid Action Battalion, said police and Rab-3. The friend, Alamin, is absconding, said police.

Sources at Sir Salimullah Medical College Morgue, where the body was sent for an autopsy, said they found four bullet injuries in the body.

"On one, two, three, all eyes on me!" As the teacher utters these words, in an instant, followed by the scurrying of little feet, a host falls over the class. All the eager eyes look directly at her, waiting to devour the day's fascinating lessons: be it of numbers and figures, or letters and words.

Teach for Bangladesh (TFB) has the fellows of the first two batches distributed among 12 government primary schools, 2 to 4 in each, who are presently trying to eradicate educational inequality. In Anant Government Primary School, Moulvi Abulhasan, a TFB fellow for the past year and 10 months, is the homeroom teacher for class 3. Her day starts and ends with her students, their dreams, and new ideas on making them come true. Read about how a fellow goes about her day, in this week's spotlight on pages 8 and 9.
