

METAL GEAR SOLID V

THE PHANTOM PAIN

TACTICAL ESPIONAGE OPERATIONS

A triumphant send-off for the series

SHAHRIKH IKHTEAR

Platforms: PC, PS4, XBI, PS3, XB360

Can you recall a time when a game has truly let you go and carve your own legend? Literally, spoil you for choices as to how you would approach every situation? Most games offer the illusion of freedom of choice but none do it as efficaciously as MGS V: The Phantom Pain.

My mission was to rescue a prisoner from the clutches of an enemy. I climbed the mountain ridge and as I reached the summit, my eyes fell upon a small village. Upon extensive surveillance of the area, I had decided that going in at daytime would be too risky as there were too many hostiles. So I used the phantom cigar to pass the time and fast-forward to night-time as guard duty would be light owing to the fact that most of the soldiers would go to sleep. As the clock slowed down to 8:36 PM, I was ready to continue with the mission.

Upon extensive surveillance of the area, I had decided that going in at daytime would be too risky as there were too many hostiles. So I used the phantom cigar to pass the time and fast-forward to night-time as guard duty would be light owing to the fact that most of the soldiers would go to sleep. As the clock slowed down to 8:36 PM, I was ready to continue with the mission.

lance of the area, I had decided that going in at daytime would be too risky as there were too many hostiles. So I used the phantom cigar to pass the time and fast-forward to night-time as guard duty would be light owing to the fact that most of the soldiers would go to sleep. As the clock slowed down to 8:36 PM, I was ready to continue with the mission.

lance of the area, I had decided that going in at daytime would be too risky as there were too many hostiles. So I used the phantom cigar to pass the time and fast-forward to night-time as guard duty would be light owing to the fact that most of the soldiers would go to sleep. As the clock slowed down to 8:36 PM, I was ready to continue with the mission.

lance of the area, I had decided that going in at daytime would be too risky as there were too many hostiles. So I used the phantom cigar to pass the time and fast-forward to night-time as guard duty would be light owing to the fact that most of the soldiers would go to sleep. As the clock slowed down to 8:36 PM, I was ready to continue with the mission.

lance of the area, I had decided that going in at daytime would be too risky as there were too many hostiles. So I used the phantom cigar to pass the time and fast-forward to night-time as guard duty would be light owing to the fact that most of the soldiers would go to sleep. As the clock slowed down to 8:36 PM, I was ready to continue with the mission.

lance of the area, I had decided that going in at daytime would be too risky as there were too many hostiles. So I used the phantom cigar to pass the time and fast-forward to night-time as guard duty would be light owing to the fact that most of the soldiers would go to sleep. As the clock slowed down to 8:36 PM, I was ready to continue with the mission.

lance of the area, I had decided that going in at daytime would be too risky as there were too many hostiles. So I used the phantom cigar to pass the time and fast-forward to night-time as guard duty would be light owing to the fact that most of the soldiers would go to sleep. As the clock slowed down to 8:36 PM, I was ready to continue with the mission.

lance of the area, I had decided that going in at daytime would be too risky as there were too many hostiles. So I used the phantom cigar to pass the time and fast-forward to night-time as guard duty would be light owing to the fact that most of the soldiers would go to sleep. As the clock slowed down to 8:36 PM, I was ready to continue with the mission.

lance of the area, I had decided that going in at daytime would be too risky as there were too many hostiles. So I used the phantom cigar to pass the time and fast-forward to night-time as guard duty would be light owing to the fact that most of the soldiers would go to sleep. As the clock slowed down to 8:36 PM, I was ready to continue with the mission.

