Unlike many other art festivals, the International Art Biennale Cox's Bazaar 2015 became the platform for the young and revolutionary artists from all over the country and abroad. The four days that the festival took place (September 10-13, 2015) in the tourist town of Cox's Bazaar, famous for its longest running sea beach in the world, the area transformed into a hub for artists, art enthusiasts, students, researchers and all kinds of art practitioners from home and abroad. To know more about this grand celebration of art, humanity and beauty, read this week's spotlight on pages 8 and 9.

4 SUCKING AT SACRIFICES
Is a satire that tells you how your years of knowledge and experience are totally wrong about buying a cow.

11 PEACE 101
Is an opinion on what we have learnt from the most peaceful protest in recent times in Bangladesh.

12 THE ART OF GIVING
Talks about Toys-R-URs,(TRY) a community based initiative that aims to distribute used toys following a structured and organised way to kids who need them the most.

13 THE CREATIVE'S SOLITUDE
Tells the tale of Beauty Boarding, one of the most significant hubs for Bangladeshi intellectuals.
