Decomposed body found in capital

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Police recovered the decomposed body of a man from a one-room apartment in the capital's Dakshin Khan yesterday.

Police suspected that Sagor Mondol, 30, was killed by his wife who locked the house after the crime and fled.

Locals said Sagor and his wife frequently fought over his second marriage about nine months ago.

The body with hands and legs were tied with ropes, was recovered after locals called the cops as unusual stench was coming from the house.

Missing man found dead in Savar

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Savar

A man was found dead yesterday, 36 hours after he went missing in Savar, outside the capital.

The body of Didarul Arefin Pinak, ex-joint secretary of BCL's Ashulia unit, was handed over to his family, and he was buried at his village in Sinduria of Savar.

Police found the body in the Bongshi river at Boliarpur.

He went missing on Saturday evening, said family.

As in the past, top government officials have given vacationers assurance of smooth travels home this Eid too. And when it comes to carpeting roads to facilitate the trips, the promises invariably prove hollow. This is evident from the condition of the Kanchpur intersection, a major hub for inter-district travels, just outside the capital. As the rush began, home-goers are set to experience the same nightmare they have been undergoing over the years. The photo was taken yesterday.

the verge of extinction.

"Several thousand babies of olive ridley turtles are released in the Bay of Bengal every year as part of conservation of the wildlife," he added.

"The spoon-billed sandpiper is a small wader, which breeds in northeastern Russia and the rare bird is seen during winter at Sonadia Island... The spoon-billed sandpiper is facing imminent extinction as fewer than 100 pairs remain in the world, Munirul said, adding that 10 pairs were seen at Sonadia Island last winter.

Sonadia Island's importance for wildlife has been recognised by BirdLife International, a global conservation organisation.

The Island has been declared the 20th Important Bird Area (IBA) of Bangladesh by BirdLife International. The island also supports the globally endangered Nordmann's greenshank, as well as other threatened birds like great knot, Asian dowitcher, Eurasian curlew and black-tailed godwit, they added.

STAFF CORRESPONDENT, Ctg

A Chittagong court yesterday sent Jubo Dal Chittagong city unit General Secretary Mosharraf Hossain Dipti to jail rejecting his bail prayer in connection with an arms case.

Dipti, also the former president of Jatiyatabadi Chhatra Dal Chittagong city unit, surrendered before the court yesterday in the case filed after police arrested some BNP activists with crude bombs and sharp weapons in the city on February in 2015.

Candidates staged a sit-in in front of Chittagong Press Club and blocked the Chawkbazar intersection for one hour in the port city.

Protesters say some candidates got the questions through social media like Facebook and WhatsApp. Meanwhile, the Rapid Action Battalion (Rab) yesterday arrested seven people, including three doctors of Rangpur Medical College Hospital, in Rangpur city on the charge of leaking the question paper. The doctors are Shariful Hasan Antu, Mostafizur Rahman Pavel, and Jillur Rahman Rony. The others are Md Jamal Uddin, Md Atiqur Rahman Adil, Sajratul Yeamin Rana, teachers of A-1 Coaching Center, and Md Monjur Rahman, director of Primate Medical Coaching Centre in Rangpur. On Friday, Rab arrested three people including an official of the University Grants Commission in the capital on the same charge.

Around 83,000 students took part in the test against 11,049 places in 39 public and 98 private medical and dental colleges, with 48,448 passing the exam.
