KIND OF COPS PEOPLE LIKE TO SEE

Policemen removing stagnant water by using an electric pump at Tejgaon Satrasta intersection of the capital yesterday. The stagnation is the result of the flyover construction that has been going on there for years now. Tejgaon Industrial Area Traffic Zone of Dhaka Metropolitan Police took the initiative beyond their call of duty, and claim that due to yesterday's efforts traffic could use three lanes instead of one. They also started doing the same in Badda area. Not only that, they are willing to lend the pump free of cost to any resident in the zone who faces waterlogging in front of his or her home. Interested persons may call 01769690908, for the free help.

Monnujan Sufian sued
UNB, Khulna

Three cases have been filed against lawmaker Begum Monnujan Sufian, also the managing committee president of the city's Daulatpur Day-Night College, and 16 others for suspending its former principal and two other teachers.

Former principal Chowdhury Mahbul Haque, lecturer of biology Kazi Misbaful Tarik and lecturer of English Farzana Haque filed the cases with a Khulna court on Tuesday alleging that the managing committee suspended them illegally on September 17 without giving them any chance of self-defence. The court asked defendants to explain their stance within 30 days.

Pregnant woman killed by stepson in capital
STAFF CORRESPONDENT

An eight-month pregnant woman was killed by her stepson following an altercation in the capital's Kamrangirchar yesterday.

Bilkis Begum, 26, was the second wife of Zasim Hajari of Hujur Para of the area, Officer-in-Charge of Kamrangirchar Police Station Sheikh Mohsin Alam said.

The stepson Rabiul Islam, 18, killed Bilkis by slitting her throat, Mohsin added.

Hearing her screams, neighbours rushed there and caught Rabiul while he was fleeing. Later, they handed him over to police.

Rabiul's father married Bilkis two and half years ago. Due to his father's remarriage Rabiul and his mother who lives in Barisal used to quarrel with Zasim and Bilkis, said the OC.

The body was sent to Sir Salimullah Medical College morgue for autopsy.

Rab captures seven 'blackmailers'
STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The Rapid Action Battalion detained seven persons allegedly for blackmailing an expatriate and seized around Tk 32,200, US$33, and eight cellphones from them in the capital's Kafurl on Tuesday.

The detainees are Abdul Maleq, his wife Rasheda Begum, Shirin Aktar, Khairul Alam, Faruq Hossain, Shahidul Islam and Aniful Islam.

From Maleq's house, Rab also rescued expatriate Ziaul Haque, who lives in the Maldives, said Assistant Superintendent of Police Mujahidul Islam of Rab-4.

The arrestees admitted that Shirin developed a relationship with Ziaul a couple of months ago over the phone.

Ziaul went to the house on her invitation. Later, the other six took "compromising" photos of him with Shirin, Mujahidul said. Afterwards, they demanded Tk 5 lakh threatening him to publish the photos on the internet otherwise, he added.

Agitators start fast unto death

Principal Ashraf Kamal, spokesperson of the guardians, said, "The prime minister, the health minister, and the lawmakers go to Singapore, Thailand for medical checkups but where will the public go for treatment if quacks serve in the medical sector?" He requested the prime minister to spend five minutes for seeing the evidence of the leak.

Enamul Haque, a water resources engineer, said, "The health ministry is blatantly disregarding innocent students' protest." Ahsan Habib Lavlu, a leader of the Communist Party of Bangladesh (CPB), called the government's decision to not cancel the test anti-people. The agitators said the death of a University Grants Commission official, held over allegations of the leak, in Rab custody and the arrest of some people in Rangpur and Dhaka proved the question leak.
