

WANDERLUST WALLS

Do you crave adventure? Are you drooling over the Instagram photos of travelers? We are ready to start booking our flights to our favorite destinations. Unfortunately, for most of us a vacation is a long way off too. So, in the meantime, why not bring the world to our homes with some beautiful map art?

Maps can be modern or vintage, bold or subtle – anything that suits your fancy. You can bring any empty wall to life and make a graphic statement by decorating it with maps. Here are just a few ideas to give you some decorating direction:

FRAME THEM

Print out or collect maps of your favorite places and create a gallery style wall in your house. Try to collect fun and colorful maps of different sizes. Make the frames quirky and flamboyant and if that is not your cup of tea, frame your maps in sleek black or warm teak.

RECYCLED CORKBOARD MAPS

Print and cut out a map of the city or country that you want to mount on your walls. Add a thin coating of glue on the back of your map and paste it onto a piece of corkboard. Cut the corkboard according to the outline of the map. (Tip: for precision use an X-Acto knife). Lastly, hang the map onto your wall. This idea is fun and versatile because you can use stick pins to mark the places you love or have visited on the map
