In the last few years or so, hotels - local and international, and of different budgets and classes - have mushroomed all over Dhaka city. One such hotel, which is of international repute, is Le Meridien Dhaka.

Owned by Starwood Hotels & Resorts Worldwide, Le Meridien is an upscale hotel chain which creates a 'culturally refined, meaning and stimulating atmosphere which inspires participants to celebrate the sauna.

Given the 16 storied building's close proximity to the airport, the hotel allows you to enjoy a spectacular view, given that there are no tall buildings after theirs - only trees, fields and runways.

The hotel also has several venues for meetings, parties, corporate events and weddings.

And among all the events you have different wedding events.

Try their infinity pool, which has premises that could cater to about 200 people. This space is perfect for small, intimate pre-wedding parties and engagements. Meanwhile, the rooftop, which is of 11000 square feet, is another place surely worth considering.

One of the finest things is that there are a few venues with adjacent spaces which you could use to serve dinner or as pre-function venue. So, you can actually split the wedding party into sections and avoid cumbersome.

Today, weddings require good sound and lighting systems, given that close family members plan dance-offs, hire DJs, professional singers, etc. Le Meridien has state of the art facilities to cater to that.

The ballrooms are very sophisticated in nature and very tastefully designed.

Le Meridien, as an upscale hotel, and superior service is extremely important. And this is also true when it comes to catering to weddings. And the beauty is that there are so many options for venues- outdoor, indoor, small, large - that it is likely that you will get one which suits your taste, preference and need.
