

Moushumi Hamid

replaces Shokh

Television drama "Break Up" was aired last Eid Ul Fitr on Maasranga Television, and has subsequently received so much praise from the audiences that it has been watched in YouTube over 700,000 times. This amazing success led to the inevitable making of "Break Up 2" and while Apurbo is returning for his role, the heroine, previously played by Shokh, has been replaced by Moushumi Hamid.

The story will follow Moushumi, an executive at a buying house, being betrayed by her loved one and after being shattered by the experience, she finds another caring man by her side only to have the previous guy come back at the same time. Filming for the drama has been completed and it is to air on Maasranga Television soon.

Who is this ISHIKA?

With a dark complexion, plain face and tears rolling down her eyes, Krishnokoli was brought to life from the depths of Tagore's pages by Ishika Khan. The viewers will definitely find it difficult to recognize the popular actress in this role as she has completely changed her looks by applying dark makeup and soot on her face to bring the character to life in the RTV series "Onakangkhito Shotto". Acting opposite to Tousif Mahbub, the episode aired this past Thursday, which was scripted by Sraboni Ferdous and directed by Shuvro Khan. She had previously played the same role in Joyonto Rosario's drama called "Krishnokoli", but she feels that the past role was that of a girl with tanned complexion. This, however, was that of a girl with dark complexion and allowed her to present much depth in her acting skills.
