

Khaleda might be arrested on return

No IS in Bangladesh; claims Ershad

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Rangpur

There is no existence of the Islamic State in Bangladesh, and the terrorist group has no reason to be here, prime minister's special envoy HM Ershad said yesterday.

He said the West nourished IS by supplying arms and ammunitions, and they were now fighting the same terrorists.

The Jatiya Party chief made the comment while talking to journalists at his residence Palli Nibash in Rangpur city.

He also said BNP chief Khaleda might get arrested after her return to the country from London. The allegations against her about embezzling orphanage money were proved; so she will not return now, he added. Ershad said his party would contest in the upcoming municipal election.

During the meeting, Hasina apprised the president of her recent visits to the Netherlands and the USA. The premier went to the Netherlands on November 3 at the invitation of her Dutch counterpart Mark Rutte. She attended the 70th United Nations General Assembly in the USA in September.

Secretaries and high officials of both the president and prime minister's offices were present yesterday.

Khaleda turned BNP into party of terrorists

Claims Inu

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Information Minister Hasanul Haq Inu yesterday said BNP Chairperson Khaleda Zia had made BNP a party of terrorists and as their leader she had chosen the way of her own destruction.

He also called Khaleda "Agun Sontrashi" (an arsonist) and a patron of militants, while addressing the press at the Bangladesh Secretariat.

Asked whether the government would bar Khaleda's return home from London, he said there would be no restriction.

Rejecting the call of BNP leader Moudud Ahmed to forge a unity among all democratic political parties, Inu said Moudud was trying to justify their political nexus with Jamaat-e-Islami, militants, and fundamentalists through the call of unity.

He also said the West played a double standard on the question of Bangladesh.

activists were arrested without arrest warrants and court orders. He said these people might become rebel if they were falsely tortured.

The SCBA strongly protested the "wholesale arrest" of people and demanded their immediate release.

VANDALISM, ARSON CASES

HC defers passing order on Fakhrul's bail petition

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The High Court yesterday deferred until November 22 the date for delivering its verdict on bail petitions filed by BNP acting secretary general Mirza Fakhrul Islam Alamgir in three arson and vandalism cases.

The HC set the date after holding hearing on rules over granting bail to the BNP leader.

The HC on June 21 issued three rules on the government to explain why the BNP leader will not get regular bail in the cases and granted ad interim bail to Fakhrul till the rules were disposed.

However, on November 2, the Supreme Court ordered Fakhrul to surrender before a lower court and asked the HC to hear and dispose of the rules in two weeks.

He surrendered before a Dhaka court the following day and was sent to jail.

On November 11, the HC fixed yesterday to pass verdict on the rules.

The cases accuse Fakhrul and other party leaders and activists of vandalising and torching vehicles in the capital on January 4, 5 and 6.

their demand.

As the proposal was not placed before the cabinet for its approval, freedom fighter Jamaluddin Sikder moved the writ petition before the HC seeking a directive on the secretaries, Azahar said, adding that 680 more freedom fighters later became party to the petition.

The government has already increased freedom fighters' retirement age to 60 years, he added.

Ctg DC orders schools to refund extra fees charged for SSC exams

STAFF CORRESPONDENT, Ctg

Authority yesterday directed all secondary schools in Chittagong to refund the extra fees charged for the registration of SSC exams 2016 in seven days, or else, it would go for stern actions.

Chittagong Deputy Commissioner Mesbah Uddin issued the order in a meeting at DC office amid the presence of 150 head teachers of different schools.

The instruction came after verifying the allegations that students were being charged four to five times of the fees fixed by Chittagong Education Board for their SSC registration form fill-up.

However, a number of head teachers claimed that they just followed the instruction of their respective managing committees.

Bhashani's 39th death

political parties and social and cultural organisations have taken elaborate programmes, doa and milad mahfils, food distribution, photography exhibition, spiritual songs, blood donation, painting competition, and discussion on the life and works of the spirited leader.

Bhashani was the founder and president of the Awami Muslim League which later became Awami League (AL). He also formed a left-leaning political organisation called National Awami Party (NAP).

He was the chairman of the Kagmari Conference in 1957 where he demanded full autonomy for then East Pakistan and by saying "Assalamualaikum" to West Pakistan he also initiated the spirit of separation of East Bengal from Pakistan.

Bhashani played a vital leading role in the 1969 mass upsurge which eventually led to the collapse of the Ayub regime and the release of Bangabandhu Sheikh Mujibur Rahman and others accused in the Agartala conspiracy case.

He led the historic Farakka March in 1976 to ensure Bangladesh's right to the fair share of the Ganges River water, against India's unilateral Ganges water withdrawal using the controversial Farakka Barrage it built not far from the Bangladesh border.

Throughout this life, Bhashani remained a rural-based and an honest politician revered for his selflessness and solidarity with the oppressed. His long political career spanned through the periods of British colonialism, Pakistan and independent Bangladesh.

On the occasion, President Abdul Hamid, Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina and BNP Chairperson Khaleda Zia issued separate messages paying rich tributes to the memory of the great leader.
