Dinajpur 'mine blast tragedy day' today

OUR CORRESPONDENT,

Today, January 6 is the reminder of Dinajpur mine blast tragedy.

On this day in 1972, several hundred freedom fighters were killed in a series of explosions that followed an accidental mine blast at the transit camp of freedom fighters at Maharaja Girijanath High School in the town.

After the December 16 final victory against the Pakistani occupation army, around 800 freedom fighters belonging to erstwhile Sectors 6 and 7 were brought to the transit camp set up at the school ground, said witnesses and survivors of the tragedy.

The freedom fighters under the supervision of the camp in-charge started searching out land mines and other explosives earlier planted by Pakistani forces at different places of nesses said. Dinajpur and surrounding districts.
