

As far as fashion goes, take advantage of the beautiful blooms that this season has to offer. Floral headpieces are an increasingly popular trend, because with the right combination of flowers you can change your look from boho chic to elegant and glamorous. This month, go for statement flower pieces in your hair. We're not talking crowns of marigolds here, but a couple of orange and yellow chrysanthemums, or a wreath of roses in a similar hue. A single sunflower pinned behind your ear will be sure to light up your whole look. Forget statement necklaces and let nature steal the show this spring.
