Muhith's life entwined with Bangladesh

Launching of his autobiography comprising first 22yrs told

The life and works of Finance Minister Abul Maal Abdul Muhith comprised a distinctive combination of his childhood memories and moments of uprising of Bangladesh's history, observed friends and well-wishers yesterday.

During his academic life, Muhith also witnessed the surrounding social, political and cultural developments of the nation, they told the launching ceremony of Muhith's autobiography, "Sonali Dinguli", detailing the first 22 years of his life.

Addressing the programme in the capital's Bangladesh Shishu Academy, Prof Emeritus Anisuzzaman said the history of the country's society, politics, economy and culture has been reflected in the autobiography, published by Chandrabati Academy. "What he witnessed and learned in his student life, he had tried to follow in his career later," he mentioned as the chair.

Eminent economist Rehman Sobhan said Muhith's life history was exceptional and he had a distinguished academic career. "We together had campaigned for our Liberation War in the USA. He took a risk doing this," he added.

Former finance minister M Saidduzzaman and Commerce Minister Tofail Ahmed also spoke.

Rules defied in pre-primary

The allegations of taking bribes, and said it was a mistake if someone was not posted to the nearby school.

Asked what the remedy is, Dilruba said, "There is no way to revise the postings now."

When asked why she did not inform of "the mistake" to the Directorate of Primary Education in Dhaka as per the rules, she said the teachers could be transferred after two years.

Section 5 of the DPE directive says, "If any fault or inconsistency is found during issuance of appointment letters, directions should be sought immediately contacting with the Directorate of Primary Education after postponing issuance of the appointment letters of the candidates concerned of the related upazilas/thanas."

A family member of Israt Jahan informed her matter to DPEO Dilruba through its official email as well as over the phone during the posting but the education officer did not take any step in this regard. The Daily Star got the copies of the official order and the email sent at 3:49pm on January 22.

Dilruba said, "We didn't favour anyone. We appointed them after seeing their permanent addresses."

The Daily Star asked for the list of 134 new recruits to see how many were posted to far-flung schools, but the official declined to give it.

You must have been His favourite, The Almighty must love you more; because He rushed you home so soon to sleep peacefully by Heaven's door.

And although our hearts are bleeding, and broken, and torn your memories are what keep us alive and give us strength to carry on: to live by your honest principles and the values you set so high, to help the less fortunate, be humble, be grateful and simplify. You taught us life is too short to take for granted, to laugh harder every day, to dance like there's no tomorrow and work diligently, tirelessly away. You were the glue that wove bonds tighter, spun lasting friendships, made days brighter; We rejoice in the hope your kindness set alight and spread the unconditional love you bestowed, lifting our hands in prayer for the Almighty to reward you a million-fold for your good deeds in this life, and for all the good left unspoken. May your love live on for countless generations, unfaltering, unbroken! And in every moment of our lives may we never be too far apart until we meet again you remain forever in our heart...
