Watch, a very necessary accessory of the last generation, has gone through a makeover.

Be it for casual wear, or party wear, these timepieces are there in every possible colour and design to accompany you in completing your look.

The function of watches is to relay the time. They were used only for this purpose before when generations of people used to wear them every day. In recent times, the scenario has changed drastically, with people now adorning these pieces to make certain fashion statements.

The Bangladeshi population has taken on this concept in an enthusiastic manner. With the presence of Timezone, the store that houses 23 different brands to cater to various tastes, people have access to brands offering different patterns and styles of watches.

Watches being the very in thing now, come in various designs, shapes and colours. Naturally, the brand comes first, because of the quality it guarantees along with the brand image itself. Varieties of brands are available, bringing in products of various ranges.

Timezone, having 38 outlets scattered around the country, display branded watches of various price ranges. There are the Swiss brands like Rado and Tissot cornering into being slightly expensive and brands like Credence presenting quality watches at reasonable prices, where watches from Tk6000 are available.

One can choose from a variety of watches out there. There are always the knock-offs available, but it is not wise to put money into purchasing replicas. Naturally they do not come with guarantees or service centers, and it is important to
