

Suit up.
It's show time.

Straight tie, well-ironed shirt, sharp suit and a killer smile – what it takes to make the perfect first impression. You put on your polished shoes, pick up your briefcase, and start off for the office. As you walk down the pavement you feel as if your whole outfit emanates corporate elegance. The first day at your first job. The thought of it sends shivers down your spine. No more dragging yourself to class in your crumpled Batman t-shirt and worn out jeans.

Starting off a career can be daunting for many; some thrive under pressure that comes from being in a dynamic work environment. Sure, the competition is gruelling and the workload can be too much. There will be times when you get overburdened. During those times, you just have to pick yourself up, dust yourself off, and face the challenge with an unbreakable will. May you find your worth in the waking world, young warrior.

Eating all those Glazed doughnuts will fill the aching void in your heart.

VIRGO
Wear a red cape to work today.

LIBRA
If your boss asks you to take off that red cape, tell him to buzz off. #Empoweryourself

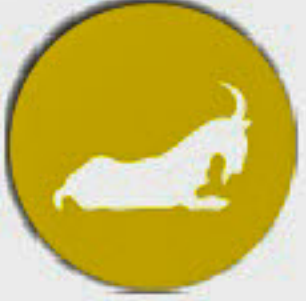

SCORPIO
If anyone can rock those dreadlocks, it's you, pal. Cultural appropriation, pfft.

SAGITTARIUS
Go out and make a friend today. Time to step out of your anti-social comfort zone.

CAPRICORN
Start making the funeral arrangements for yourself. You might need it sooner than you think.

AQUARIUS
If you like it then you should've put a ring on it.

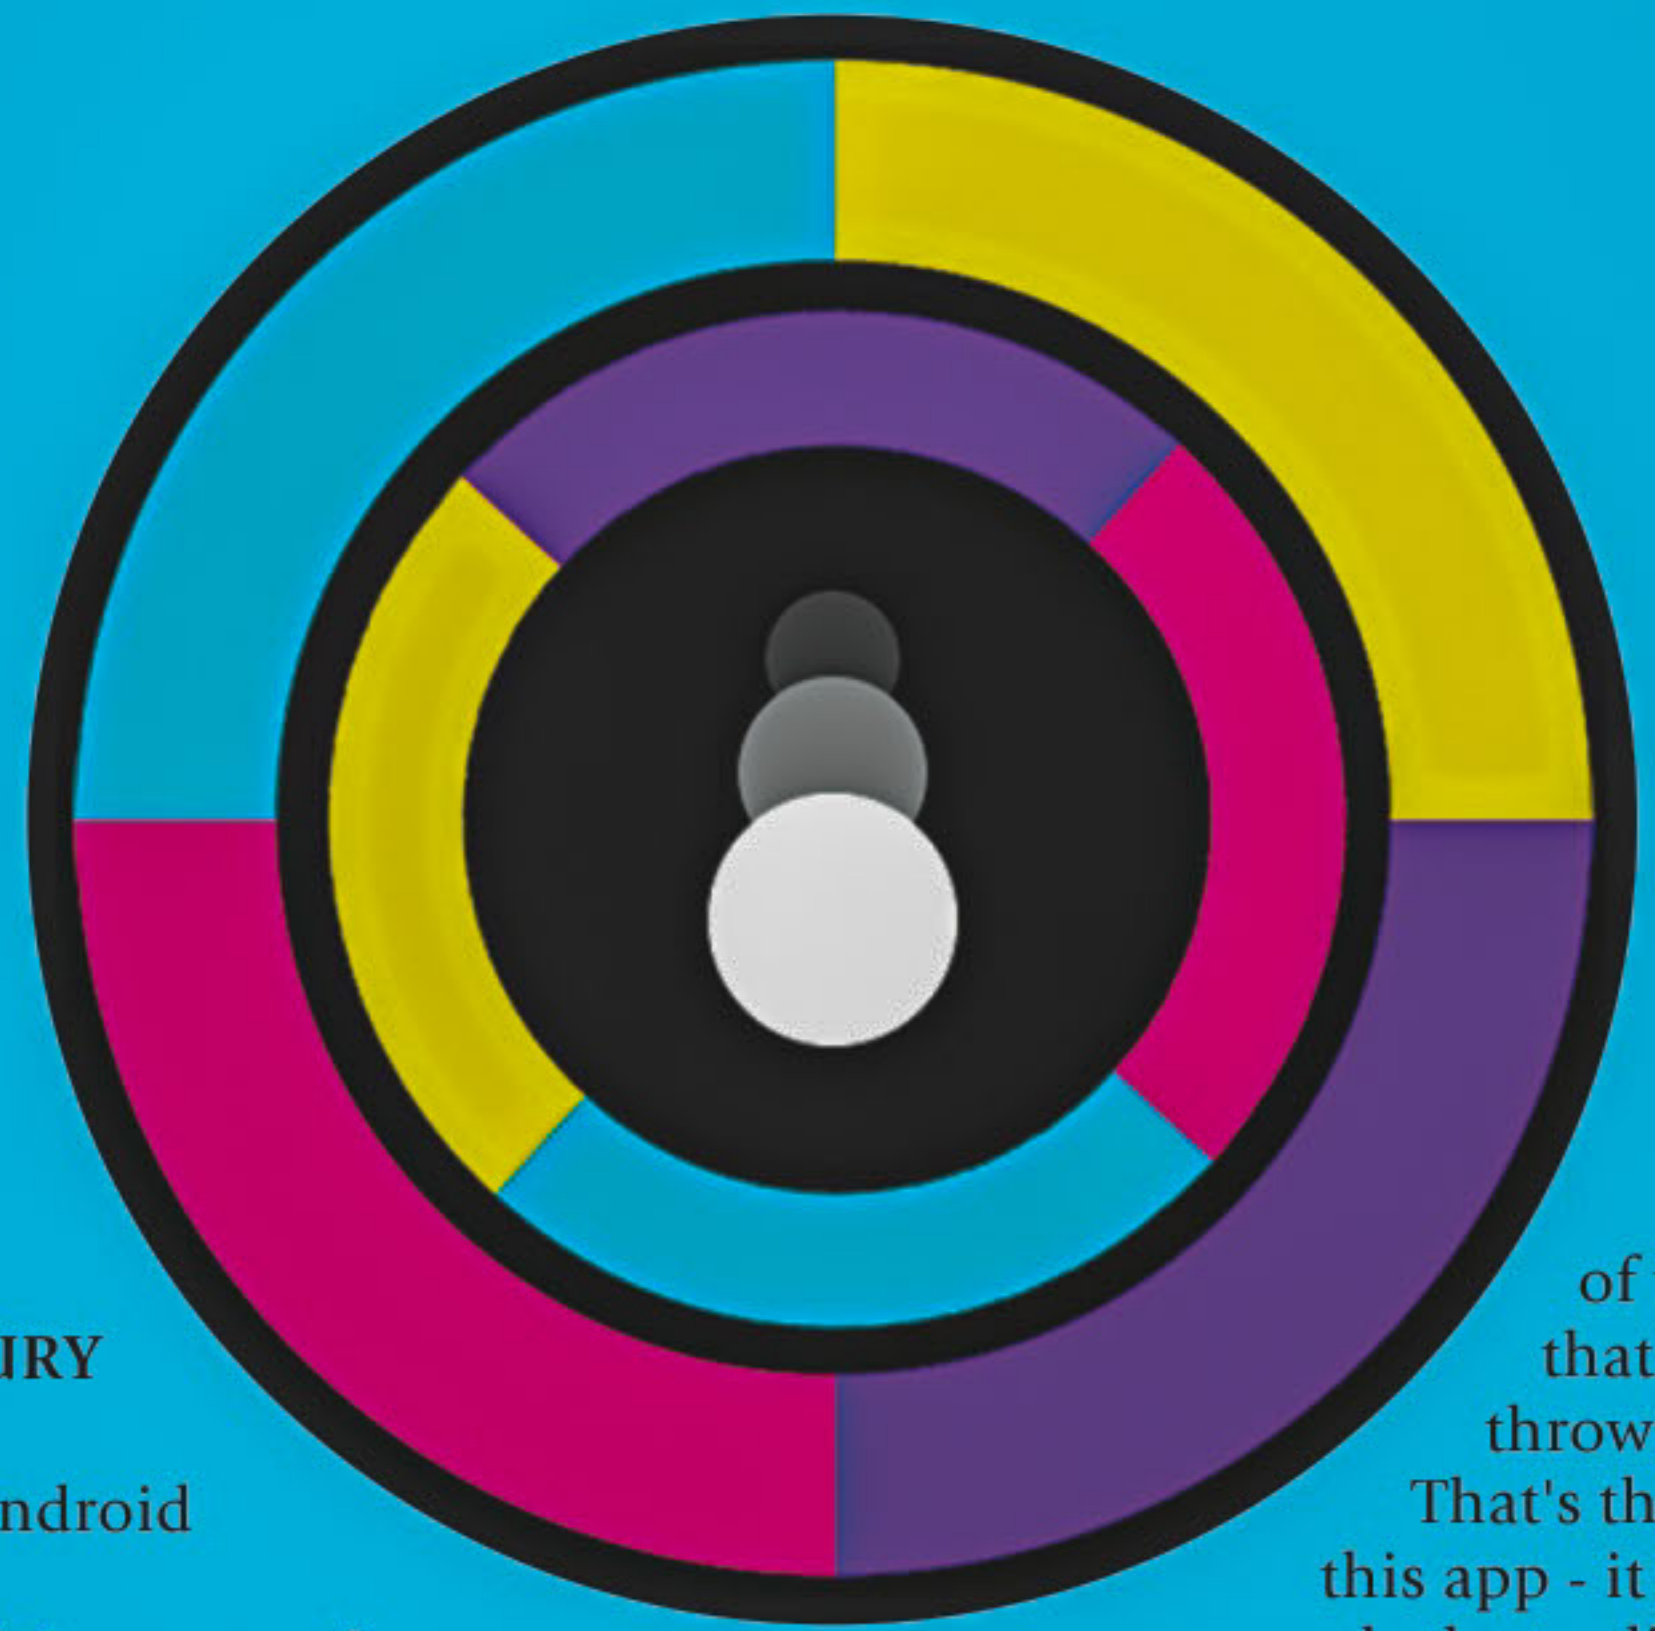

PISCES
Don't you just hate it when the girl you're meant to marry won't even add you on Skype?

APP REVIEW

COLOR SWITCH

COLOR ME CRAZY

MITHI CHOWDHURY

Platform: Android

Color Switch is a game that looks easy enough. The main idea behind the game is simple - the user has to lead a small, color-sensitive ball through a color-switching maze. The trick is to get in and out of the different obstacles of the maze through the colored portion of the obstacle that matches that of the ball.

However, don't let the ball hover for too long. The user has to repeatedly tap the screen in order to move the piece or even keep it afloat. As soon as you make it past the first obstacle, you get a point, and so forth. Although the game looks deceptively simple, it is anything but. Just when you've silently lauded yourself for making it past the first obstacle, you come across a piece of the puzzle that really throws you off. That's the beauty of this app - it really exceeds the traditional standards of difficulty.

After the initial polychromatic circle, the game gets tougher with each successive obstacle - things like rapid spinning spheres, shapes such as triangles and diamonds, sliding series of lines, and combination circles begin to appear.

Aside from the occasional ad, there isn't much delay in starting or restarting the game. Hence, the only frustration you feel will be evoked by the game itself - which is essential to the overall gaming experience. I'd definitely recommend this to those who look for a highly competitive gaming experience from apps. All in all, it's well worth the download.
