Chaired by former chairman of Bangladesh Public Service Commission Ekram Ahmed, the discussion was addressed, among others, by Poba chairman Abu Naser Khan, former chairman of Bangladesh Agricultural Research Council Dr Khalequzzaman Akand Chowdhury. They said people do not know how safe the fruits are as unscrupulous traders use various chemicals, including formalin, to keep those fresh. The environmentalists put forward a set of recommendations, which include proper implementation of the Safe Food Act 2013 and Formalin Control Act 2015, taking effective steps to stop chemical use in fruits, setting up food court at district level and strengthening the monitoring on food adulteration.
