

SRK DEMANDS AWARD FOR 'FAN'

He knows how to keep his audience engaged, he knows how to set his viewers' pulse rate racing, he knows he is a master of wit and he knows whatever he speaks becomes worthy of a headline.

Shah Rukh's latest action-drama 'Fan' has opened to good response and irrespective of the commercial outcome, the fact that SRK has done a brilliant job in his twin role cannot be ignored. SRK said, "If I do not get an award this time for my role in Fan, I will snatch away the award, or start crying."

Those who have seen the film will vouch for the fact that SRK has put in his heart and soul and has delivered one of his best performances ever, but with Salman Khan's 'Rustom', Aamir Khan's 'Dangal' and SRK's second release this year, 'Raees' yet to hit the screens, let's see if he walks away with maximum laurels next year.

Dwayne Johnson, Kevin Hart eyeing Jumanji reboot

The "Central Intelligence" co-stars are in early talks to join the cast of the studio's Jumanji reboot. Jake Kasdan is directing the movie, which is billed as a new take on Chris Van Allsburg's Caldecott-winning children's book about a jungle-themed board game whose dangers magically come to life. The story was previously brought to the screen in 1995 by filmmaker Joe Johnston, with a cast including Robin Williams and Kirsten Dunst.

Johnson and Hart have become something of a dynamic duo of late, pairing up for the New Line action-comedy "Central Intelligence" (opening June 17) and co-hosting the MTV Movie Awards earlier this month. They each have several projects in the pipeline — including "Fast 8" and "The Intouchables" for Hart — which could make scheduling a challenge with regard to their potential Jumanji involvement. Jumanji is scheduled to open July 28, 2017.
