OUR CORRESPONDENT, New Delhi

India is trying to repatriate a 12-year-old boy, of its own from a shelter home in Jessore, years after he went missing from Delhi.

A senior official in the Indian High Commission in Dhaka is traveling to Jessore to meet Sonu on the directive of External Affairs Minister Sushma Swaraj. Sonu is lodging in a children's shelter home in Jessore's Pulerhat, Swaraj said in a Twitter post.

"Our Joint Secretary Bangladesh Sripriya Ranganathan has met Mehboob and Mumtaz who claim that Sonu presently in Bangladesh is their son..." she added.

"We will match Sonu's DNA with the couple claiming to be his parents. In case DNA test is positive, SEE PAGE 5 COL 5

Non-MPO college teachers demand inclusion

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Lecturers of two subjects of business studies group of different MPO-enlisted colleges yesterday staged a demonstration in the capital demanding that the government include them in its monthly pay order (MPO) facilities.

Around 200 teachers of Production Management & Marketing and Finance, and Banking and Insurance formed a human chain in front of Jatiya Press Club and held a sit-in, under the banner of "Bangladesh Production Management & Marketing and Finance, Banking and Insurance Teachers Council".

The teachers said the government made the subjects compulsory at the higher secondary level in 2013-2014 academic session and asked the colleges to open any of the two subjects. The colleges started recruiting teachers following a 2013 education ministry circular, but the government did not include them in the MPO-list, said Rubayet Ibne Tofazzel, a teacher of Natore College. "We have not got any salary from the government since our recruitment," he told The Daily Star, adding that there are around 300 lecturers of these subjects who are not getting the MPO. Syeda Dil Ashrafi, president of the council, said, "Whenever we contact the authorities concerned, they told us that we are not entitled as per a 2011 circular...But there is nothing in the circular that bars us."

Her mother filed a case against Nirjhar accusing him of instigating her suicide. The body was sent to Dhaka Medical College morgue for an autopsy.
