CANNES FILM FESTIVAL

is first and foremost an opportunity to look at pretty dresses.

After a couple of weeks to take in their Met Gala choices, designers and stylists alike are able to recoup and bring out 10 days' worth of quality A-list fashion ensembles: it's a marathon, not a sprint, but, make no mistake, there are winners and losers. As the festival wrapped up for one more year, let's look back at some of the fashion hits and misses from the Cannes red carpet.
