Abducted college girl traceless for two months

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Lalmonirhat

A college girl, abducted from Sakoya Tikiki village in Lalmonirhat Sadar upazila on March 30, is yet to be rescued. The victim is an HSC student at Barabari Shaheed Abul Kashem College in the upazila. A case was lodged in this connection, accusing one named and 4/5 unnamed people, with Lalmonirhat Sadar Police Station two days after the incident. Police arrested the named accused, Faysal Hossain alias Baro Lal, 30, son of late Fazlar Rahman of the village, on May 5. He got bail from the District and Sessions Judge Court on May 21, police said. Police said the college girl was abducted by Baro Lal and his accomplices while she was going to her college. They took her to Tentulia area of Panchagarh district, where she was kept locked in a room for a month. The girl somehow escaped from the abductors on April 29, and has remained untraced since then, police said. The victim's mother said Baro Lal and his friends used to stalk her daughter to and from the college. "I complained to Baro Lal's family several times, but to no avail," she said. "I want to know whether my daughter is alive or not," she added. Sub-Inspector Anisur Rahman Anis, the investigation officer of the case, said Baro Lal was arrested by the police and confessed that he and his friends abducted the girl. The victim fled away a month back, but he doesn't know where she is now, the SI said quoting Baro Lal. "Police are trying to arrest the other accused, and trace out the victim's location," he said. Away in Pabna, a school guard was held on charge of sexually harassing a girl student of the school in Pabna's Chatmohar upazila on Monday, reports our correspondent. The accused Abdul Hamid, 35, son of Nasiruddin Khan of Parshadanga village, is a night guard of Parshadanga Government Primary School, police said. Hamid tried to molest a Class I girl in the school at about 9:00am on the day, said Subroto Kumar, officer-in-charge of Chatmohar Police Station. Hearing the screams of the girl, locals rushed to the spot and caught the guard. He was later handed over to police, the OC said. Tahmina Khatun, headmaster of the school, said the upazila nirbahi officer and the upazila primary education officer were informed about the matter. Victim's father filed a case with Chatmohar Police Station, accusing the guard, under the Women and Children Oppression Prevention Act on Monday, the OC said.

NETRAKONA, BARGUNA

Four to walk gallows for killing two minor boys

STAR COUNTRY DESK

Four people were awarded death penalty yesterday for killing two minor boys in Netrakona and Barguna districts. A Netrakona court sentenced three people to death for killing a minor schoolboy after abduction in 2014, reports UNB. The convicts are Shamim Khan, 20, son of Kanchan Khan, Sohag, 20, son of Abul Kashem of Kendua upazila, and Sharifuzzaman alias Humayun, 20, son of Sultu Mia of Rajibpur upazila in the district. Of them, Sharifuzzaman was tried in absentia. Women and Children Repression Prevention Tribunal Judge AKM Abul Kashem also fined them Tk 50,000 each. In default, they are to suffer another one year in jail.

Following their confessional statement, police recovered the decomposed body of Shukkur Ali on July 1. Police submitted charge sheet against them on August 5 the same year. After examining evidence and witnesses, the judge found the trio guilty and pronounced the verdict. In Barguna, a court awarded a man capital punishment for killing a 11-year-old schoolboy in 2015, reports our Patuakhali correspondent. The death penalty awardee is fisherman Miraj, a resident of Choto Amkhola village under Taltali upazila of the district. The court also asked him to pay Tk 20 lakh to the victim's family as compensation, said Assistant Public Prosecutor (APP) Md Akhtaruzzaman Bahadur. The compensation money will be realised from assets of Miraj's family members including his father, he said. On August 4 last year, Rabiul Awal, son of Dulal Mridha of the village, and a Class IV student of Farajeebari Dakhil Madrasa in the area, was beaten to death for his alleged involvement in stealing fish from a net that was kept in a canal. Following a case filed by the victim's father, Talal police arrested Miraj the following day. On August 23, police submitted a charge sheet, accusing the convict. After examining witnesses and records, Barguna Additional District and Sessions Judge Md Abu Taher found Miraj guilty and gave the verdict.

There has been cross-party that Crown Prince Frederik's son, Prince Christian, will continue to receive the state-funded salary as he is second-in-line to the throne. Prince Christian's three younger siblings and the four children of the Queen's second son, Prince Joachim, are thought to lose their eligibility. A spokesman for the ruling Venstre party, Jakob Ellemann-Jensen, told Politiken: "Simple mathematics dictate that there needs to be some sort of limit. "Otherwise within a few generations there will be several hundred princes and princesses who need an annual salary." Critics in the Folketing (Danish Parliament) have called for the heir to the throne, Crown Prince Frederik, to share his own salary with his children instead of the government paying them their own stipend. Tax spokesman for the Liberal Alliance party, Ole Birk Olesen said: "I'd rather go back to the old system, so that only the Crown Prince Frederik's first-born, who are entitled to annuities. "Government finances should only have the task of supporting one of his children, who will inherit the throne after him." The Royal Family's spokespeople have declined to comment on which of the grandchildren they want to
